One Man's Opinion

By CARL BRIGGS

A quick tour by wagon through the Southwest last week — a form of annual psychic therapy called "vacation" but more akin to a hectic week of parole – disclosed some interesting developments.

The first thing one notices is the climate, particularly the contrast between here and there, an understandable reaction to those of us who are accustomed to so much white that we are becoming permanently snowblind.

Some years ago when I was punching beef critters for a living I stopped in Tombstone, Arizona, several times and remembered it as being not especially memorable, to back into a phrase, and last week found it to be much the same as it was then. This slice of high desert country hard by the Dragoon Mountains in Cochise County is so dry they measure precipitation in "traces." It was windy and cloudy and blustery while we were there, and had been for weeks, but the last moisture recorded was a fraction of an inch in early December. It did drizzle a little the day we left. The sandy floor of that parched land was like a sponge and no moisture showed between the stark cacti. The towering and majestic Saguaro are impervious to seasonal drought, but the smaller plants and the sage and wild grasses were bleached and brittle.

But with all its hostile environment, Tombstone, I found, is now turning a tidy profit from its own history.

Originally a mining town and founded less than a long lifetime ago, the spotty silver lode discovered in 1877 by Ed Schieffelin was soon exhausted and mines with names like Lucky Cuss, Toughnut, Grand Central, Robber's Roost, and Goodenough quickly filled with water.

Tombstone is remembered today not for what it was, where it was located, or what it produced, but for a bunch of notably bad hombres who gathered there, among them the Clantons, McLaurys, Curly Bill Brocious, Johnny Ringo, Billy Claiborne, Buckskin Frank Leslie, Bat Masterson, old Kansas raider Quantrill for a time, Doc Holliday, Frank Stilwell, and the Earp brothers. Sounds like the lineup for an old Saturday afternoon cowboy movie, but these were the original and genuine historical figures.

Wyatt Earp, briefly a town deputy and more successfully a faro dealer, has come in for some deification in recent years, but old timers along Allen Street are about evenly divided in their opinions, some regarding him as one of the good guys while others say that he and his brothers were as bad as the Clantons. Indeed, the town sheriff, feller by the name of John Behan, sided with the Clantons, and that whole shooting business one day in 1881 at the corner of Third and Fremont (near the OK Corral, but not inside it) is regarded by many to have been nothing more than the inevitable erruption of a personal blood fued between the Earps and Clantons and not a triumph of law and order over dissident ruffians, as popular dramatizations might lead one to believe. Only three men were killed, Billy Clanton and Tom and Frank McLaury ("only" is used advisedly), but that shootout is considered today the West's most famous and is the prime basis for Tombstone's continuing existence.

Tombstone, far removed in a barren land, does a brisk tourist trade which, considering its assets, is nothing short of remarkable. There are museums and saloons in nearly equal proportion, comprising about 95 per cent of the business in town, some of these being odd combinations – either saloons with artifacts or museums with booze, I'm not sure which.

In paying my respects at the local newspaper office – the weekly Tombstone Epitaph, founded by John P. Clum, is

Trimont Progress Outlined To PTA In Truckee Address By Howard West

By FLORENCE BURGE

"As soon as we get approval of water rights from Martis Creek, we can set up our operating company and go to work," said Howard West, assistant to the president of Trimont Corporation.

West spoke Thursday before members of the Truckee Elementary School PTA about a planned development on Highway 267 between Martis Valley and the shores of Lake Tahoe.

Trimont, a wholly owned subsidary of Fibreboard Corporation, has 25,000 acres it plans to develop around a summer and winter recreation oriented theme. A 2200-acre natural ski bowl area on the Martis side is focal point of the development. This will be one of the largest ski areas on the coast.

"We have already secured an allocation of water from Lake Tahoe for the Tahoe Basin side of the area and if we get approval this year of an allocation from Martis Creek, we will be ready to open the first phase of the operation by the winter of 1971," West continued.

West said he was confident there was ample water available and the allocation by California Water Rights Board would be forthcoming soon. Application was made last July.

The development has been on the planning boards for the last three years, said West. Plans have already been approved by state and county agencies, boards and commissions involved as well as the Tahoe Regional Agency. Overall plans call for development of only 30 per cent of the property with 70 per cent left in green belt.

The first phase of the development to be completed by 1980 will feature the ski area with seven lifts in a natural bowl on the Martis Valley slopes of Mt. Pluto; opening of 4100 units of property on the Martis side and 1920 units on the Tahoe side; and building approximately 200 condominium units per year.

The entire development, scheduled for completion in the year 2000, will include more ski lifts according to demand, 13,000 units of lots and condominiums, a 150 room hotel that can be expanded to 500 rooms, a restaurant atop Mt. Pluto, stables, riding and hiking trails, swimming facilities, golf course, ice skating, tennis club.

West estimated roughly that this would represent a total investment of more than $100 million, with about 115,000,000 to be spent by 1980 on construction of homes, roads, utilities and recreational facilities.

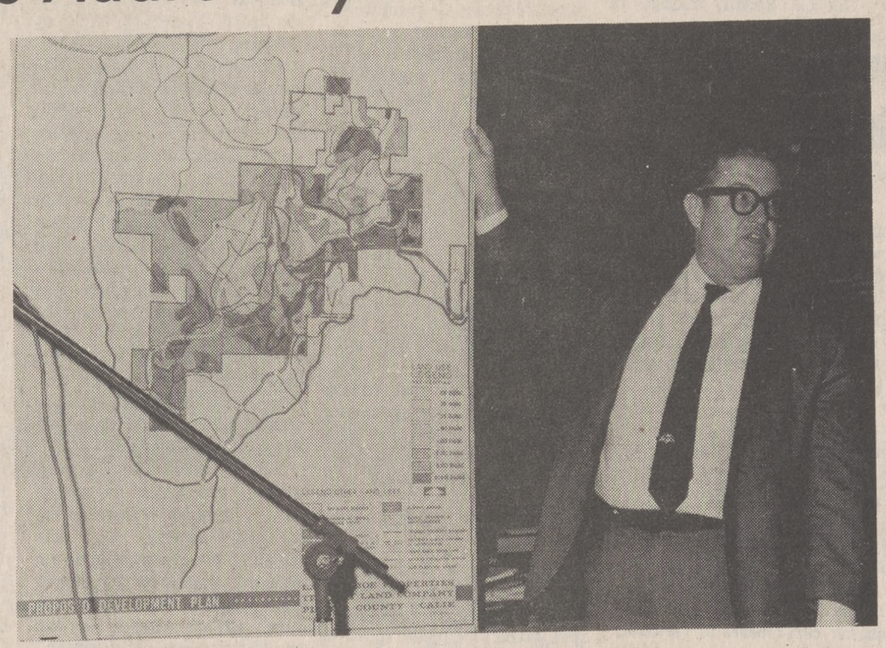
"Economic studies show that in addition to construction employment, over 3,000 year around jobs will be created in hotel facilities, retail shops, restaurants and various recreational facilities in the development area," said West.

"Another 3,000 additional persons will be required in service industries in the surrounding area."

"When asked about sewage, West said approval has already been acquired for disposal on the Tahoe Basin side when the new North Tahoe and Tahoe City public utilities districts' export disposal system goes into operation. The company will provide its own sewage and garbage export disposal system on the Martis Creek side.

"Trimont believes that a healthy year-round economy on the North Shore requires this type of development and that with it, the present seasonal and mid-week peaks and valleys of tourism can be eliminated by active solicitation of Midwest, Southwest and Eastern tourists whose average stay and expenditures exceed considerably those of the weekend tourist," said West.

"The Trimont Plan provides a sound foundation for a development program which will not only protect the integrity of the region but will enhance its economic base.



A NEW RECREATIONAL COMMUNITY – Howard West, assistant to the president of Trimont Corporation, explains map showing recreational and housing development plans for 25,000 acres on Highway 267 from Martis Valley to Lake Tahoe. He said homes and condominiums on the Tahoe basin side of the area will be clustered in three major meadows or plateaus not visible from the lake in order to maintain the scenic backdrop. The development's focal ski area is located on 2200 acres on the Martis Creek side of Mt. Pluto. – Sun Photo

Jack Stever Is Honored By Truckee PTA

It was standing room only when more than 150 persons turned out Thursday for a varied program and election of officers at the regular meeting of Truckee Elementary School PTA.

Presentation of the flag was given by members of junior and Cadet Girl Scouts who led the assemblage in the pledge of allegiance and the singing of America.

An antique display cabinet bought by the PTA was presented the school. Mrs. Skip Ferdinand was awarded a prize.

Two groups of students in eight squares presented a colorful display of square dancing. If there had been more room many adults would have joined in, judging from the foot tapping in the audience. The children enjoyed it too, for at the end a young voice was heard to exclaim "can we have one more."

Results of the elections were: president; Mrs. Carole Donnelly; first vice president, Mrs. Mary Lehner; second vice president, Rex Anderson; secretary, Miss Helen Ramsted; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Erwin; auditor, Mrs. Virginia Doyle; parliamentarian, Mrs. Marigrey Fish.

Surprise of the evening was the presentation of an honorary life membership to Jack Stever.

The room count was won by Mrs. Ream's third grade.

Howard West of Trimont Corp. gave a presentation of the corporations plans. The area involved is 25,000 acres (about the size of San Francisco). The development is planned for completion in the year 2000 at which time there will be seven lifts in the Mt. Pluto Ski Area, 13,000 lots of approximately 1/3 acre, golf course, swimming pool, ice skating rink, horse and hiking trails. They comtemplate retaining about 70 per cent in green belt.

SURPRISE! – Jack Stever was taken by surprise Thursday when members of the Truckee Elementary School PTA accorded him PTA's highest honor, a life membership, Shown presenting the award is Mrs. Marigrey Fish, PTA president. Award was for "outstanding contribution to children, the school and the community." Stever, teacher of combined fifth and sixth grade room, has been at Truckee Elementary School for 13 years. Obviously moved by the award, Stever thanked the group adding, "it takes very wonderful children, very wonderful parents, very wonderful administrators to make a wanderer like me stay in one place so long." —Sun Photo

Tahoe Area Council To Meet Friday At Crystal Bay Club

The March meeting of the Lake Tahoe Area Council, scheduled for this Friday, will feature a panel discussion on the topic, "Local or Regional Government for Lake Tahoe."

Among the seven panel participants are four members of the governing boards of as many counties: Californians William V. D. Johnson of El Dorado County and William Briner of Placer County, and Nevadans Howard F. McKissick Sr. of Washoe County and Harold Dayton of Douglas County.

Others taking part are John T. Williams, city manager of South Lake Tahoe, and J. Allan Bray, chairman of the California Tahoe Regional Planning Agency. Briner is a member of the agency.

The panel moderator will be Tom Willoughby, consultant to California's Assembly Committee on Local Government.

The afternoon panel session will be followed by a dinner at which the speaker will be Professor John James, Tahoe College climatologist. He will discuss the area's air-pollution situation.

All the sessions will be held in the Crystal Bay Club and the public is welcome.

Big Snow Carnival On Sunday

The annual children's snow carnival sponsored by the Truckee – Donner Jaycees will take place this Sunday, March 23, at Hilltop Lodge in Truckee. Kids from the ages of four through 12 years are invited to attend and participate in the day's events.

There will be snowman contests and innertube and saucer races in three age categories: four to six years, six to nine years, nine to 12 years. Trophies will be awarded to the winners. The festivities will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until 2 p.m. Refreshments, including free hotdogs and soda pop, will be served by the Jaycees.

The Jaycees have also issued a challenge to all service clubs in the area to participate in a tug-of-war contest with them during the carnival. A special trophy for this event is being prepared.

Kids are asked to bring their own tubes and saucers for the races.

The Jaycees sponsor the snow carnival each year, and this year have received monetary assistance from Truckee-Donner Recreation and Park District and the Truckee Lions Club.

Gold Ball Tourney Under Way

The Truckee Invitation Gold Ball Basketball Tournament, sponsored annually by the Truckee – Donner Recreation and Park District, is being played all this week in the gymnasium at Tahoe-Truckee High School.

Single elimination tournament play began Monday and will continue through Friday, with three games played each evening, the first game starting at 6:30 p.m.

Thirteen teams are participating in this year's contest. Local teams are Capitol Pasttime and Gas Jockeys from Truckee; Tradewinds, Kings Beach; Donaldson's Cafe and Marier's Marauders from Tahoe City.

Other teams include Pepsi Cola, Walton's Funeral Home, and Meadow Gold Milk from Reno; Miguel's and Bus Stop Bar from South Reno; Ammunition Depot from Herlong; and Pearson's Rentals, Portola.

Supervisors Approve Attorney Appointment For Truckee Area

A long-anticipated Truckee facility was assured last week when the Nevada County Board of Supervisors, through the efforts of Supervisor William Curran, adopted a resolution creating a combined deputy district attorney and county counsel for this end of the county.

After some discussion by Curran, the board passed the resolution unanimously although there was some opposition expressed by other board members, who felt the employment of the deputy would create an unnecessary expense.

Dist. Atty. Harold Berliner, here last week on official business, said the new man would assume his duties at the Nevada County Government Building in Truckee about April 15.

Until details are worked out, identify of the deputy is not being revealed although Berliner said the man has a family and will definitely be a resident of the Truckee-Donner community, confining his activities to this and possibly the North Lake Tahoe area.

Currently, Berliner said, arrangements are being made with the district attorney of Placer County to have the man available in an advisory capacity for counseling in that area with a share of the salary being financed by Placer County.

Nevada County's share was set at $550 per month and the deputy will be at his office in the county building four days a week.

The arrangement between Placer and Nevada County to share in the expense of the new official has not been firmed but Berliner said his communication with the neighboring county officials has been agreeable and he could see no problem in the offing.

As outlined by Berliner and Curran, the new official as assistant district attorney will be available to try misdeamanor cases, hold hearings in felony cases, issue felony complaints and provide legal advice to sheriff's officers and the California Highway Patrol and issue search warrants.

As deputy county counsel, the new man will provide advice and counsel for local districts and other county officers stationed here. If time permits, Berliner said, he will be available for private practice.

For many years former Supervisor H.G. Loehr, the chamber of commerce, and other local organizations have been promoting the appointment of a deputy district attorney for the Truckee area. Former board members agreed to the suggestion, but without taking official action.

With the election of the new board last November the entire subject came under study and it was through the urging of Curran that resistance was overcome and the vote on the resolution was unanimous.

Celebrations Planned In Truckee To Hail Special Centennial Trains

Further plans were made for the centennial celebration in Truckee at a special town meeting Monday at the fire house. John Hemler, chairman, reported on committee progress and relayed the intentions of the Railway and Locomotive Historical Society to run two special passenger trains, both of which will stop in Truckee May. 9.

The local celebration will consist of a dedication ceremony to unveil an official California Historical Marker near the SP depot in Truckee, and plans call for participation by local citizens and merchants, the high school band, Miss Sierra queen contestants, Chief Truckee Chapter of E Clampus Vitus, Odd Fellows, Jaycees and other groups and organizations.

Many of the businesses and buildings and the train station will be decorated, and the local citizenry is encouraged to grow beards (men) and wear pioneer dresses (women).

The first train to arrive in Truckee May 9 will be the "Centennial Plaque Special," carrying dignitaries who will participate in the plaque dedication. It is scheduled to arrive in Truckee at 4:15 p.m., discharge its passengers, as many as 1,000 of them, and depart for return to the Bay Area at 5:45 p.m. after the dedication ceremonies.

The second train, the "Gold Spike Centennial Special," will arrive in Truckee approximately 30 minutes behind the "Centennial Plaque Special," and will also discharge its passengers for a brief stop and participation in the plaque dedication. This train will then proceed to Utah for the national Gold Spike ceremony at Promontory, the actual location of the joining of the rails on May 10, 1869.

Both of these trains are being operated, with the cooperation of Southern Pacific Company, by the Pacific Coast Chapter of the Railway and Locomotive Historical Society. A third train, sponsored by the Orange Empire Trolley Museum and the Pacifc Railroad Society, will leave Los Angeles May 8 and journey to Ogden, via the Sierra route and Truckee, but the schedule has not been announced as yet.

The "Centennial Plaque Special" will consist of a baggage car (doors barred), streamline chair cars, lounge car and a grill car.

The "Golden Spike Centennial Special" will consist of streamlined sleeping and chair cars, dining cars, lounge cars, and the observation car "El Dorado," which is owned by the historical society. Both trains, as well as the Los Angeles train, will be powered by diesel engines.

Other tentative plans include a centennial dinner at Donner Lake Lodge on May 2 and a community dance in Truckee May 9 or 10, to be sponsored by the local American Legion and VFW posts.

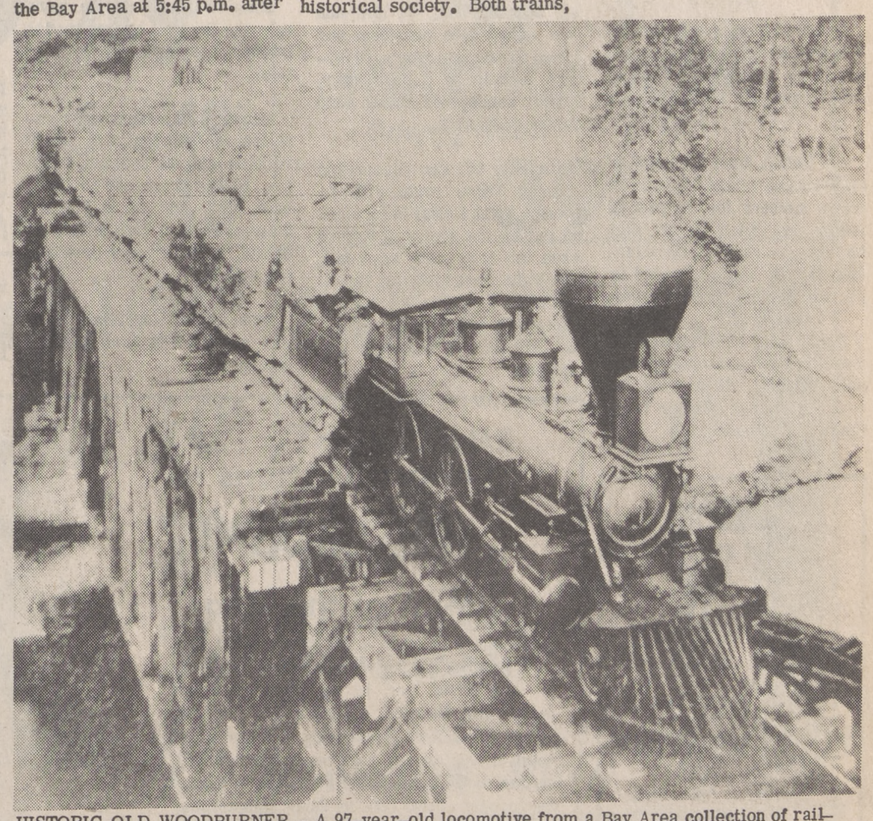
Prizes will be awarded for town decorations during the celebration, and for beards and costumes. The Clampers are expected to help keep the festivities quiet, orderly, polite and sober.

Society Meeting To Plan For Centennial

There will be a meeting of the Truckee-Donner Historical Society at 8 p.m. Thursday, March 20, at Emigrant Trail Museum, Donner Memorial State Park.

Under discussion will be the Society's participation in the upcoming railroad centennial celebration to be held in downtown Truckee on May 9. In addition, two short but excellent films on the American Indian will be shown.

The general public, including teen-agers, are invited to attend this meeting.



HISTORIC OLD WOODBURNER – A 97-year-old locomotive from a Bay Area collection of railway equipment will join the Centennial celebration of the driving of the Gold Spike at Promontory, Utah, on May 10. The engine, named the "Genoa," was once the pride of the Comstock Lode passenger trains on the old Virginia and Truckee Railroad and now a prize in the collection of the Pacific Coast Chapter of the Railway and Locomotive Historical Society. After a brief display in Sacramento, the converted engine will be moved to Utah by the Southern Pacific, then remain on display through the summer at the New Gold Spike Historic Monument. The "Genoa" was brought to California by ship around Cape Horn and once pulled passenger trains between Carson City and Virginia City during the great silver mining days. It has appeared at the New York World's Fair (1939-40) and Chicago Fair (1948-49). Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, SIERRA SUN:

The educational system of most of the counties in California STINK.

The reason, of course lies in ourselves. Bear in mind that when we ask what is wrong with our schools, we merely ask what is wrong with ourselves.

We are a nation of children who refuse to grow up. We cannot tear ourselves away from our games, sports, parties, the soap opera, magazine fiction, and comic books long enough to look at those we elect to set the policies that govern our childrens education.

In many areas of the state, people are vieing for positions on local high school boards, and it is up to the voting public to listen to the ideas brought forth by these candidates, and elect those who present the best ideas for total education.

The mere fact that the candidate has the word "incumbent" behind his name should not matter to the voter; make the "imcumbent" prove his right to continue on the job.

In plain words, we are cheating our boys and girls of their right to the kind of education they deserve. For the one third or more of their waking hours many of them are not getting the help and guidance they urgently need. By bowing in many instances to shortsided boards of trustees we are depriving our children of a precious heritage which we received from our parents.

Current educational trends and the notion that white collar jobs are somehow more dignified have helped create juvenile courts and the extended welfare rolls.

Any reasonably healthy young man entering high school with a genuine desire to learn a trade should be of prime interest to the whole community.

Remember, as you look at your ballots, that dull boys are more likely to get into difficulties, largely because they want, and need, more work with their hands and less intellecutal work, but do not get it. Give vocational training to the manually minded and the juvenile courts and welfare rolls will be greatly reduced.

RANOLD J. KENNEDY
Penryn

(EDITOR'S NOTE: I don't know what your problems might be down there in Penryn, but I disagree with your oddly expressed appraisal of "most" of California's schools and would certainly reject it as applied to our local district. Our board is as sincere and dedicated a group of individuals as you will find anywhere, coping with problems unheard of in most communities, and like most lay boards in California they are doing a creditable job under trying times and conditions. There will be individuals and boards from time to time in need of improvement, to be sure, and the place to bring about that improvement is at the ballot box, but your hand-wringing shotgun attack on school boards in general for all the real or imagined ills of society is not helping the situation.)

May Resume Plane Search

Search officials say they expect enough snow will have melted during the week to reveal the wreckage of a gamblers' special airliner which vanished a month ago with 35 persons aboard.

The Mineral County Airlines DC3 was on a flight from a Hawthorne casino to southern California. It is presumed to have crashed in the snow-covered mountains in the Nevada-California border area.

The search was suspended March 7.

Airport District Requests Unique Easement In The Sky

Martis Valley Estates Unit No. 2, near Truckee – Tahoe Airport, may be the first subdivision in Nevada County to have an easement in the sky.

The county planning commission a week ago required that the Martis Valley Development Company "dedicate to the public a perpetual and assignable easement over property covered by the subject map for the use and benefit of the Truckee-Tahoe Airport" as a condition of approval of the tentative map.

However, the air easement condition is subject to the approval of Leo Todd, county counsel. Todd requested more time to study the "unusual" condition saying it "came to him cold."

Sharon Mahaffey of the planning department explained that the easement was one of the Advisory Review Commission's recommendations. She said it was designed to provide unobstructed right of flight and passage of air traffic through and across air space in excess of 150 feet above the surface of real property.

Commissioners unanimously approved the tentative map for the 21-lot subdivision subject to the six conditions imposed by the Advisory Review Commission, including the "easement in the sky."

Gordon Redall, manager of the Truckee Tahoe Airport District, complimented the planning department staff on its efficiency and thanked the commission for its cooperation.

Redall said if the easement were not obtained prior to building development, it would be necessary for each property owner to be approached separately in order to seek individual consents for such an easement.

Truckee Merchants To Launch Drive For Downtown Facelift

It has been announced that members of the Truckee Downtown Merchants Association have agreed to go ahead with plans for redevelopment of Emigrant Way in the downtown area.

Planned is a restoration and "facelifting" to authentic early day western style architecture, perhaps even including wooden sidewalks.

Association members are researching early day towns and buildings for ideas. An architect and engineer have volunteered to draw up the extensive plans needed.

"All we are waiting for now is for the snow to go so we can get pictures of the structures, the street and alley, said a spokesman. "Then the architect can begin on his plans.

"We've decided to do it right. As soon as we have plans ready we will seek federal aid."

A committee has already been formed to look into various ways of securing financial aid in the refurbishing project.

Meetings are held on the last Monday of each month at the Truckee Firehouse at 7:30 p.m. All interested parties are urged to attend.

Ronald Mahan Is Promoted

Ronald W. Mahan, 20, son of Mrs. Thelma L. Nilmeier, Tahoe City, Calif., was promoted to Army first leiutenant during ceremonies in Vietnam, Jan. 31.

The lieutenant is a member of Advisory Team 100, advising the 30th Ranger Battalion, a Vietnamese Army unit.

Opinion

in its 89th year and is Arizona's oldest continuously published newspaper – I heard about Historic Tombstone Adventures, a corporation formed by enterprising local businessmen. HTA owns a saloon, several historic buildings, the OK Corral, the Epitaph, a nearby ranch, and a modern new motel on the edge of town. They have plans for restoring the vanished Gird Block on Fremont Street and for purchasing and operating other businesses in town. In addition, they are engaged in the industrious promotion of Tombstone as a major tourist attraction. With more than 100,000 travelers a year already going to that remote place, most of them remaining at least over night and often for two or three days, the fugure for HTA looks promising.

I'm not sure how they did it, how much private capital was involved, or if it was entirely a local effort. The Tombstone Chamber of Commerce does much to promote the area too, but HTA apparently took over where the chamber left off.

Maybe this is what is needed, after all, when a town's bootstraps are frayed and broken and it can no longer pull itself up. A chamber of commerce is only as effective as the extent and participation of its membership, and from community to community that can be much or it can be little. It just isn't enough when a town is tired and dying the way Tombstone was a few years ago, and the way so many towns are today. Private enterprise, on the other hand, has no limitations, needing only profit, and there is no stronger incentive for survival than that.

There are hundreds of old settlements of historical value and interest in the West. All they need to be popular tourist attractions, providing they have anything at all going for them, is a small boost up. Tombstone is not the only example, and perhaps not a typical one. Tubac is resurrecting itself and Scottsdale is so wealthy and commercial that it no longer even qualifies as an authentic historical attraction. It's more like Palm Springs; Beverly Hills with thorns. Scottsdale pople now go to places like Tombstone for a rest, so there you have it.

Private corporations, private capital, private enterprise — with help from any willing government agency when you can get it, to be sure — may yet be the answer for places like Tonopah and Goldfield and Virginia City. And Truckee too, for that matter.

SUNBEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

Automobile accidents are getting so frequent and common that they are apparently taken as a matter of course. During recent snow storms, literally hundreds of vehicles suffered damage, mostly minor, but all costly, along the streets and highways in this region. At least three-quarters of these accidents could be avoided if the even a little caution was used and the rules of the road were observed by drivers.

One of the most flagrant violations of the law and one which causes the most accidents is that drivers will not reduce speed on snow-covered and icy highways and streets. The law specifically states that the speed limit where skid chains are required is 25 miles an hour and yet drivers, apparently believing that the chains will solve all their problems, continue to drive at maximum speeds. Then when they see trouble ahead they apply brakes, skid a few hundred feet and smack into another vehicle or lose control and crash into a snow bank.

Few cars which have had average use during the winter have escaped without some damage, usually only dent fenders, broken head lights or scraped paint, but some have been demolished and many drivers and passengers injured due to carelessness or law violations.

Even parked vehicles have been damaged and in nearly every instance the person causing the trouble fails to report the mishap and leaves the innocent owner of the wrecked vehicle to pay for the damage or continue to drive a banged-up car. These minor accidents come so often that it would be impossible for officers to investigate all of them, so it is up to the individual to use caution, obey the rules and avoid collisions to cut down the cost and misery too often resulting.

Supervisors Approve Report On Progress Of County OEDP

The board of supervisors Tuesday unanimously approved and accepted the 1968 Overall Economic Development Plan progress report prepared by the OEDP executive committee.

The 55-page document describes the progress the local OEDP has made in encouraging new employment opportunities, improvement of income, and economic growth.

It points out that in two years the OEDP has set the stage for rapid employment expansion, providing presently pending public works applications for water and sewers are approved by the Economic Development Administration.

The report reads in part:

'New industry such as Arvin Industries Inc. was attracted to the county in late 1968 as a result of EDA projects and the activities of the OEDP committee. The impact of permanent employment from these projects has not yet been recorded in the statistics."

The board of supervisors will submit the report to the Seattle office of the Economic Development Administration.

A cover letter signed by William E. Thomas chairman of the board of supervisors reads in part:

"Major progress was made in 1968 to solve the county's basic water and sewerage problems for economic development, resulting in applications for seven public works projects. The approval of the planning grant provided staff to work on other problems confronting economic growth in our county. The completion of the technical assistance research projects has given ideas about how economic development of the county's commercial recreation resources could be accomplished.

"The Nevada County Board of Supervisors supports the continuing action program of the OEDP committee to increase employment, reduce unemployment, and improve personal income."

Byron Tarr, Grass Valley, a retired public utilities employe, is chairman of the OEDP executive committee. Other members are Harry Beyer, Jr., Soda Springs; Mrs. Deborah Drummond, Cedar Ridge; Miss Elizabeth L. George, Grass Valley; and Richard P. Wilson, Nevada City.

State Earns NRA Hunter Safety Award

Governor Ronald Reagan today accepted an award from the National Rifle Association for California's outstanding achievement in the field of hunter safety during 1968.

The award, the sixth consecutive annual award for the Hunter Safety Training Program of the Department of Fish and Game, was presented to the governor by Col. E. F. (Tod) Sloan, field representative of the NRA.

The governor in turn presented the award to Ray Arnett, Director of the Department of Fish and Game, which administers the hunter safety program.

The hunter safety training program is coordinated by the Department of Fish and Game, but the actual instruction is done by a corps of 3,300 unpaid volunteer instructors.

Since the program was started in 1954, the program has trained 449,516 youngsters in the safe handling of firearms. In that time, the hunter casualty rate has dropped from 3.1 to 1.5 casualties per 10,000 licensed hunters. Last year, the volunteer instructors trained 37,177 youngsters.

State law requires that persons under 18 satisfactorily complete the hunter safety course before they may purchase a hunting license.

California won the top NRA award, determined each year by a special committee of the International Association of Game, Fish, and Conservation Commissioners, in 1958. The state was ineligible for an award thereafter until 1963, but has won one of the 10 merit awards each year since then.

Truckee-Donner Chamber:

By CARSON WHITE

The Truckee-Donner Chamber of Commerce welcomed plans for the Railroad Centennial and agreed to finance some of the local expenses of the national event which will draw two trainloads of people for dedication of a placque at the Southern Pacific depot.

The Truckee Lions Club has already selected a queen candidate for the Beauty Contest which will end on May 10. All contestants will be viewed by the public at the dedication ceremony. Truckee Horsemen will supervise the contest. Pretty Debbie Wurst of Donner Lake will represent the Lions Club. North Tahoe Chamber is sponsoring Judi Birmingham, Miss Sierra Snowflake of 1969.

The chamber meeting was held at Olympic Cafe and attended by Supervisor William Curran and his guest, Harold Berliner, District Attorney for Nevada County. Mr. Berliner outlined a plan to have a county counsel in the county building in Truckee four days a week. Final plans are not complete, but as Mr. Berliner pointed out, it is a foot in the door to have an attorney here.

Mr. Curran was advised of the possible damage that will occur in this area when the snow melts. Additional monies will be necessary to punch drain holes in the snow when the warm rains come and plow out fire hydrants. Mr. Curran is serving on the disaster committee and said he would look into it. A bill is before Congress now which may provide needed funds for storm damage. Mr. Berliner advised that the bill to aid small towns seeking to develop local industrial and business potential is in the mill.

Mr. Ed Emery offered to bill the chamber only $30 per year for insurance on bus shelters for the school children. This would cover six covered shelters sponsored by various merchants.

A letter from the Truckee-Donner Recreation and Park District stated that they are not interested in obtaining a beach on the east end of Donner Lake, but would appreciate the support of the chamber in obtaining the westend beach.

Tom Dolley offered a letter of resignation to the chamber as manager. Dolley has served for many years at this post and will step out of office June 1 if a suitable replacement is found to handle the job. President Carson White reluctantly accepted the letter and advised that the board of directors will seek a prospect for the job.

Comments were made regarding the new Truckee brochure and the matter was tabled until next meeting on March 26 for decision. Some question was raised as to whether to go ahead with what we could with present funds or solicit ads to pay for a more complete brochure with pictures.

Tahoe City PUD Asked To 'Take A Second Look'

Dr. Gordon Seck and Al Marino, Placer County Health officials, have asked the Tahoe City Public Utility District to take a second look at proposed annexations and land developments in relation to the new sewage treatment plant being constructed.

The health officials want assurance the proposed million gallon per day capacity for the next five years will be enough. The capacity was based and scheduled on a survey two years old. Officials fear this may not be enough in the light of real estate development which may progress faster than the district anticipated.

A serious problem of sewer line infiltration of storm waters also is involved. However, district engineer Randolph Dewante expressed the hope of solving at least 50 per cent of the problem within a year. Infiltration has resulted in sewage overflows into the Truckee River twice this winter during heavy rainstorms.

The North Tahoe Public Utility District at Tahoe Vista has reserved 1 1/2 million gallons per day in the treatment plant. Last Thursday North Tahoe PUD Chairman Robert Daneri said this figure still should apply for at least five years after the plant goes into operation.

The Tahoe City district extends down the west shore of Lake Tahoe to Tahoma. On April 1, the district will seek further annexation to D. L. Bliss State Park.

The rate of building at North Lake Tahoe will determine how soon the plant would have to be expanded or a decision made to continue the regional project down the Truckee River.

With infiltration problems, Tahoe City has experienced daily flows of 700,000 gallons a day and North Tahoe a million gallons a day during rain storms.

Kings Beach Wins In Finale

Kings Beach Lions finished the regular basketball season last week with a narrow win over Truckee after a thrilling fourth quarter which ended in a score of 33 to 31.

The Lions trailed by 10 points early in the third quarter but picked up 8 points to close in on the margin. Fourth quarter play saw each team making outstanding defensive plays and the lead changing hands with each basket.

Season standings give the Lions an unblemished district record and Truckee an outstanding 13 to 4 record. The Lions will travel to Colfax for a tournament on March 22 to mark the end of the season.

Total points scored by Kings Beach players were: Ferrari, 9; Kornazewich, 5; Price, 6; Russell, 8; Molsberry, 2; Thompson, 3. Truckee total points were: Davidson, 11; Wurst, 8; Shively, 4; Manetta, 2; Diaz, 6.

In the preliminary seventh grade game, Kings Beach downed Truckee 40 to 16. Buddie Bitler and Bob Lochridge paced the Lions with 16 and 10 points respectively.

HAVING A GOOD TIME – Father Cohan, St. Francis of Assisi parish priest, brought his Irish brogue to authenticate the church guild's Finian's Rainbow dinner dance. He is talking with Mr. and Mrs. John Oakes. Guests wined, dined, then danced to the music of the Tony Austin Trio to cap off the evening. Prizes went to Ray O'Brien of Reno, Bill Fada of Incline, Nora Ferrari of Kings Beach, Jack Sheets of Incline, Ted Draney of Crystal Bay, Reno Menicucci of Incline and Carmelita Ramsey of Incline. Fatalities Up In Highway Accident Toll

Reports from the California Highway Patrol Truckee Substation show that fatal accidents in 1968 were up 43 per cent over 1967 and number of persons killed was up 25 per cent.

While fatalities were up, persons injured went down from 486 in 1967 to 465 in 1968 for a net decrease of 4 per cent.

Total arrests also showed a slight decrease with 6,181 in 1967 and 6,124 in 1968.

CHP personnel put in a total of 21,345 duty hours in 1968 and drove a total of 528,778 miles.

Local School Incumbents Are Unopposed

The three incumbent candidates for trustee positions on the Tahoe-Truckee Unified School District will have no opposition on the ballots at the election scheduled for April 15.

The three incumbents are William Conners, C. Robert Maughan and E.R. Meixner.

On the Sierra College board there will be two vacancies and the candidates are Erwin Stark and George R. Duff, incumbent, Area Five; Richard A. Lee, incumbent, and James F. Donahue, Area One.

A total of 59 persons are competing for the 30 trustee position in the Placer county-wide school election next month.

Five Arrested On Suspicion

Placer County Sheriff's deputies Sunday arrested five young persons at a Squaw Valley hotel. They were arrested on suspicion of possession of marijuana.

Deputies were called to the scene early in the morning by Deputy Phil Edwards, security guard, who smelled burning marijuana.

The youths were all from Castro Valley in Alameda County. They were: Larry Leslie Silva, 19; Jeffery Harold Hunt, 18; Thomas Michael Gish, 18; Karl Burton Corwin, 18, and a 17-year-old boy. They were transferred to Auburn.

Probe Thefts

Sheriff's deputies are investigating at least three daylight burglaries from cars of skiers while their vehicles were parked here during the weekend.

Thieves took $85 from one car, $10 from another and took skis from a third auto. The money was stolen after windows were broken in the cars so the doors could be unlocked.

Social Security

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be in Truckee on Tuesday, March 25, in Room 3 at the county office building from 9 a.m. until noon.

He will also be in Tahoe City the same day, upstairs at the community center, from 1 to 2 p.m.

Have all of your Easter vacation plans been made? Believe it or not our "furlough" is only 1-1/2 weeks away – that's worth 7 school days! Some people may wonder why we're looking forward to spring vacation after all the many snowday vacations, but there is a big difference. During the vacation period we can plan ahead knowing there will be no school for seven days; whereas during our unexpected snowdays we couldn't plan ahead beyond the next snowflake.

The new CSF president, Sue Hawkins, has gotten off to a busy start in her new office. She met with a committee last week to further plans for the May 1 Honor Trip. Hopefully, the group will be able to tour an aircraft carrier or submarine docked in San Francisco Bay along with numerous other activities to be enjoyed in that beautiful city. CSF initiated 13 new members March 18 in an impressive ceremony, bringing the spring membership to 33.

A week ago on Tuesday morning the advanced math classes – Algebra III and Trigonometry – took the National Math Test (M. A. A.) The test was 80 minutes long without a break and was difficult! Each student is scored according to how many right answers less 1/4 the wrong answer, not counting omissions. Thus it is possible to get a negative score! The top three scores were 38 points by Sue Hawkins; 30 by John Miron; 28 by Larry Doyle. Congratulations! After taking that test, little numbers were running through minds for the rest of the day.

Friday last the students were entertained by Leo Gasca of the National School Activities. Mr. Gasca is an authority on physical fitness and exercise. Sierra Skiing

By VI and CARSON WHITE

Tomorrow is the first day of SPRING and skiers should have the best spring skiing ever this year of the deep snows.

The Saloon Slalom tomorrow at Squaw Valley will kick off the warm weather events scheduled throughout the rest of March and all of April.

Participants will be in costume and judging from last year, the whole day should be hilarious, especially when the racers make their way through a maze of bamboo poles, ski over a ladder, take off their skis and jump on a little sled to ride down the luge run and splash into the puddle of water at the end.

Bring your cameras and join in on the fun at Exhibition lift.

* * *

Local skiers did well in the Western Veteran's Slalom Classic held Saturday at Squaw Valley. Hans Kosak placed first in class I, followed by Mike Foley and Arne Allen.

Pepi Gassiot had the best time in Class II, with Sherm Carson, second and Odd Bakke, third.

In class III, Uno Veidemann skied off with first place, Bill Briner was second and Peter Klaussen, third.

Peter Picard had a very fast run and took top honors in class IV for men over 50, followed by George Buchanan and Norm Brown.

Audry Rivard won the class I women's event, with Dottie Pomalgalski second. Cricket MacKinlay had the fastest women's time overall, winning class II, Eddy Ancinas, second and Elissa Slanger, third.

Class III womens event was captured by Diana Cookingham, second, Norma Lausmann and Donna Joynes, third.

The course was set on Exhibition and followed the same fall line used for the World Cup races.

* * *

Squaw Valley racers who did well at the Dodge Ridge Vet's Divisional Championships March 9, were: Beverly and Dick Brockway, Dottie Pomagalski, Jean and John Sproehnle, Vi and Carson White and Judy and Arnold Allen.

* * *

A couple of weeks ago shop owners, resort owners, and sales representatives got together for the second annual Ski Industry Field Days at Incline Village and Alpine Meadows, sponsored by Western Winter Sports Representatives Association and Western Ski Time magazine.

Besides enjoying the huge snow pack on well-groomed runs, fun races were held. Jay Price of Boreal Ridge won the Estimated Time Slalom at Ski Incline by going through the tricky course closest to the time he predicted for himself even though several of his opponents tried to upset him.

Helen Foeger is not going to listen to her husband's advice for a long time. She estimated her time as 73 seconds, Luggi suggested she change it to 78, and she made it in 72 seconds. She lost out on a prize, but was given a nice consolation gift for being such a good sport about it.

At Alpine Meadows the following day, Jim Speas of Hart skis made it through the obstacle course faster than anyone else for first place. Paul Woodruff of Head skis was second and Placer County supervisor Bill Briner third.

Prizes were enclosed in envelopes from north Lake Tahoe businesses. John Sproehnle of the Hearthstone picked one that offered two dinners at Bill Briner's Sunnyside Lodge and Bill picked one that offered two dinners at the Hearthstone, one way to try out each others menu.

Guy Michaels, formerly of the Christmas Tree, greeted the group at the Chataux where he is now manager. A huge trophy of ice was sculptured for the attractive centerpiece at the cocktail party.

Slim Davis, Chief of the Division of Recreation of the U.S. Forest Service presented an interesting illustrated talk on the potential ski areas being studied by the Forest Service at a dinner in the Lake Tahoe Hotel.

The Mineral King area near Sequoia National Park is the newest, with construction to start this year.

Nancy Wilkins had her first experience racing recently when she and her husband, Dr. Ed, represented the Sierra Club during the Bay Area Council race at Soda Springs. Roberta Huber won the class II giant slalom, Nancy was third in class IV, Ed Wilkins did well in the men's class IV with fourth place.

Another first: Lauren (Russ) Russell found out what those colored poles and flags mean to a slalom racer. He captained the Donner Odd Ones team at the Barrel Stave Races at Powder Bowl last Saturday to third place. Other members of the team were Charlie White and his mom Vi. Combined time, 2:23.

First place went to Butch's Renegades, of Tahoe City: Dick Nielsen, Butch Street and Larry Linsey; time 1:05. Second were the Stoners AC of Powder Bowl; Ed Hoff, Pat Paterson and Pete Freeman; time 1:33.

Paul Masson Winery of Saratoga again held an eventful zany race, this time the 10th Annual Barrel Stave Olympics; 29 three-man teams competed. Dick Nielson had the best time for men, 21.5, and Babe Street was close behind with 25.4 to have the women's fastest time.

Most of the contestants wore costumes. Prize winners were the Macy's Convicts from Monterey Macy's ski department. Anton Stinauer of the Ski Jets from Aerojet in Sacramento, who have a ski lodge at Donner Lake, had a spectacular clown outfit on and he even raced with that huge cigar in his mouth.

Richard Belli wore the famous River Ranch River Rat costume. Prizes were bottles of Paul Masson Rare Creme Sherry and champagne. The urn of hot mulled wine was repeatedly filled and enjoyed by both racers and spectators throughout the afternoon, and magnums of champagne were popped after the races.

It was another hilarious dual slalom with many spills as skiers tried hard to stay upright on those small curved wine barrel slats.

Skiing at Squaw Valley the other day, we noticed all three new lifts that accomodate skiers getting off the Tram are now in operation again, as is Shirley Lake lift. All were buried under several feet of snow.

We have news from Sugar Bowl that they finally dug out the Mt. Lincoln lift, but the rope tow is still under 25 feet of snow and the Mt. Disney lift is also buried under the tremendous pack.

We skiers will always remember the big snowy winter of '69.

These services are just a part of the expanding range of telephone uses. You'll find them listed in the Yellow Pages of your phone book.

Pacific Telephone is one of the sponsors who are bringing you all the great San Francisco Giants baseball games again this year on radio. So be sure to join us for another exciting season!

Local Dog Teams Compete At Ebbetts Pass

Members of the Sierra Nevada Dog Drivers came away with several wins in the final sled dog circuit race of the season held last Saturday and Sunday at Ebbetts Pass. Final times were extremely close.

"This cross country trail was one of the trickiest courses we've ever run," said Mrs. Joan Walling of Truckee. She was happy to come in third in the Class B, five-dog team competition. She drove her team over the 6.6 mile course both Saturday and Sunday in a total time of 1 hour, 27 minutes and 28 seconds.

"The trail was laid out in an unplowed subdivision at the Bear Valley Ski Area," Mrs. Walling said.

"If you took the wrong street you were dead. The corners were very sharp, mostly "L"-shaped, and one of the hills was certainly the steepest we've ever driven in our lives."

Other members of the local group taking honors in class B were Bob Leverson of Belvedere, Calif., first, and Don Minto of Chico, second.

Jack Daniels of Nevada City took second place in the Class A competition, a 10 mile trail with a team of over five dogs. Hit total time for the two days was 1 hour 36 minutes and 32 seconds. Another member, Lee Fishback of Nevada City came in third with a time of one hour 38 minutes and 48 seconds.

Dave Walling of Truckee, who "got lost" came in fifth in Class A. First place winner was Jerry Klatt of Sisters, Ore., who came in with a total time of one hour, 34 minutes and 34 seconds.

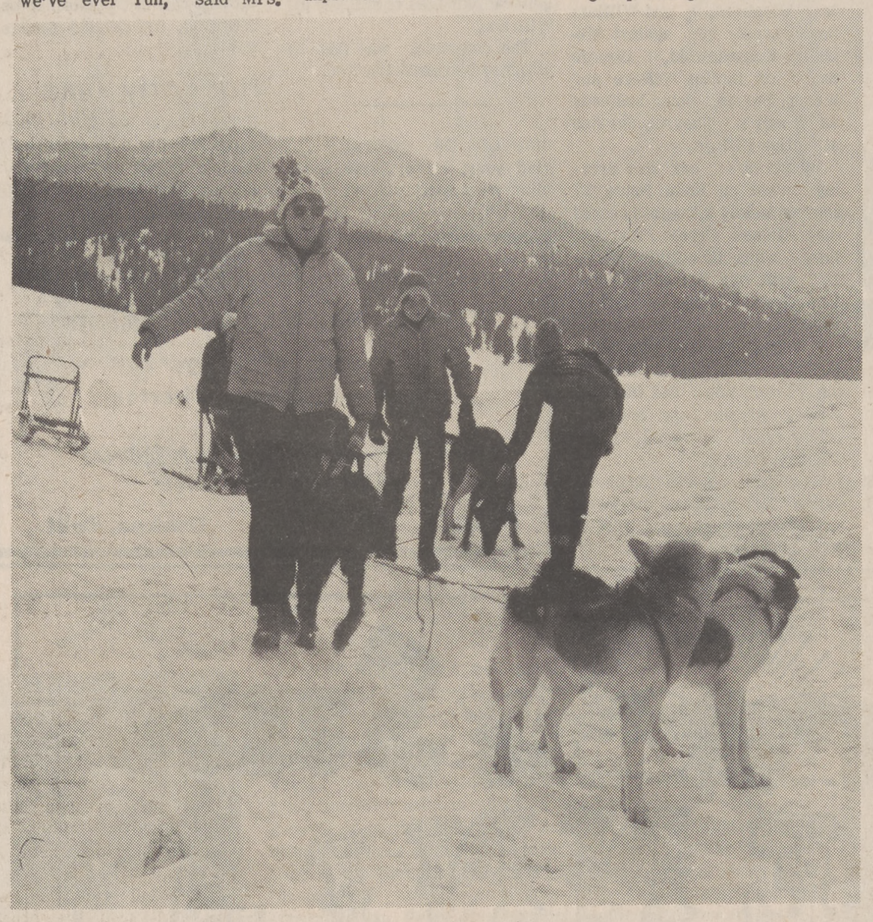
Fifteen-year-old Sheryl Walling took first place in Class C driving three dogs on a three-mile course for both days in 34 minutes, 20 seconds. Rollet Giambastina came in second, Tom Reed of Sacramento, third and Steve Walling, fourth. Steve, 12, was the only one driving two dogs in the three dog class.

"It was the first race we've run in sunshine during the entire season," commented Mrs. Walling. "We all got sunburned but it was certainly highly successful."

Another highlight of the race for members of the Sierra Nevada Dog Drivers was when member Tom Reed's 2 1/2-year-old daughter, Paula, took second place in the Peewee Race. She drove a six-months-old puppy in the competition for drivers under eight years of age.

Other members placing were Dean Jennings of Vacaville, fifth, Class B; Susie Daniels, 15, daughter of the Jack Daniels of Nevada City, sixth in Class B (her first Class B race); and Laurie Leach of Mill Valley, fifth, Class C.

In a weight pulling contest, one of Jerry Klatt's Alaskan Huskies pulled 1100 pounds to take the annual weight pulling trophy. Klatt and Jim Keller also walked off with the 125-pound concrete "Calaveras County Frog" for having traveled the greatest distance to the race. Both came from Sisters, Ore.



IT'S A FAMILY AFFAIR – Everyone gets into the act when it's time to unhitch the sled dog team. Here children of the Dave Walling, the Jack Daniels and the Bob Levorson families help Daniels unhitch his 10-dog team after training session. Youngsters also drive their own teams. The Walling's 14-year-old daughter, Sheryl drives a three-dog team and took second place in the recent La Pine, Ore. circuit race. She attends Tahoe Truckee High School. Brother Steve, 12, who attends Truckee Elementary School placed third in the three-dog class during the recent Squaw Valley Winter Carnival. Daphne Levorsen, 16 also drives a team and Susie Daniels, 15, placed third at Squaw Valley with her three-dog team. The Levorsens, who moved from Alaska to Belvedere, Calif. last year, have just returned from the first annual "East Meets West Dog Sled Derby" held at St. Paul, Minn. where they took first place in the competition. Adults and children are all members of the Sierra Nevada Dog Drivers, Inc. —Sun Photo

WELCOME ABOARD! – If you can get aboard, that is. The registered Siberians of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Walling of Truckee are bunked down and ready for the ride back home after training session in Martis Valley in preparation for final dog sled meet of the season next weekend. The Wallings' unique kennel-on wheels houses the dogs two-deep in separate bunks sporting portholes just large enough to put their heads through and look down the center inside gangway to see what's going on when the door is opened. Wallings have 26 registered Sieberians and two Alaskan Huskies most of which are sled dogs "but if we breed one that is good show material we show him, they're all from championship show lines." said Mrs. Walling. —Sun Photo

Hospital Aide Reinstated

Nevada County supervisors have reinstated Dr. Peter J. Keenan as medical director of the Nevada General Hospital here and accepted the resignation of hospital administrator Richard J. Kuhwarth.

Yesterday's action reversed a March 4 move in which Dr. Keenan was asked to resign after Kuhwarth tendered his resignation over alleged conflicts between the two.

The board did not accept the latter's resignation until yesterday. Kuhwarth then was offered a chief accountant's post until June 30.

Board Chairman William E. Thomas of Rough and Ready said he will submit information on hospital operations to the county Grand Jury for a full investigation. Thomas said the data "may involve some irregularities," but he did not elaborate.

Nevada Press Looks Into Crystal Ball

The political crystal ball got a polishing up last weekend at Stateline at the 44th annual Nevada State Press Association Convention, with the following tidbits being pursued for future reference:

— Republican Gov. Paul Laxalt will run against Sen. Howard Cannon D-Nev. in '70 and Republican Ed Fike will face State Sen. Floyd Lamb, a Democrat for governor.

— Few were willing to predict who Washoe Dist. Attorney William Raggio will against, but indications were lieutenant governor might be what he's aiming for.

It was with sadness we learned last week of the passing of Marie Hart, widow of Clark Hart, in Reno. The Harts built and lived in residences at Kings Beach, Tahoe Vista and Carnelian Bay – the latter home being called "Hart and Sowle." The were also pioneers of Reno owning a huge ranch in southwest Reno where their original home is at the corner of Plumb and Marsh and made of native stone.

Her interests were wide and varied, collections of Alaska, and China, being uppermost. Her son, Art Sowle, is in communications and she too had had her own "listening" post. Belated sympathy to the Sowle family.

Hysteria reigned and thereby hangs the cat's tale.

Auto Accident Results In Complicated Lawsuit

A head-on collision on State Route 27 on Feb. 24, 1968, has resulted in a personal injury suit filed in Washoe District Court.

Lawrence and Lorraine T. Wissbeck of 900 Williams St. have made claims individually and for their children, Charles Wissbeck, 7, and William Scott Arndt, 10, against Michele Kossakowski, George Sayre of Incline Village and Woody Burris, doing business as Woody's Chevron Service at Incline Village.

Wissbeck's car was driving west on State Route 27 approximately 2.2 miles west of the Galena Creek Fire Station, when it collided head-on with one driven by Miss Kossakowski and owned by Sayre.

Wissbeck charges that Miss Kossakowski's auto crossed the center line and that the brakes on her car had recently been repaired by the Chevron station.

Wissbeck seeks compensation for medical expenses and loss of wages, plus $500,000 in general damages. He also seeks medical expenses for Charles, plus $750,000 in general damages.

Mrs. Wissbeck, who was not in the car, seeks reimbursement of medical expenses for William, plus $100,000 in general damages for loss of her husband's companionship, and general damages of $35,000 for William.

Study Under Way On Beach Plan At Lake

A study on the extent a private developer can legally develop a marina at Incline Beach for the use of Incline Village property owners and guests only has been ordered by trustees of the Incline Village General Improvement District.

District officials feel that the district might spend as much as $20,000 at the boating beach without objections from taxpayers, but could not afford to develop a marina without additional taxes and approval from property owners.

The study into private development will provide the district with guidelines it can use in asking for proposals from private developers.

First priority at the boating beach, trustees said, would be construction of a suitable boat-launching ramp and some protection from wind and waves.

Manager Wallace W. White announced the bathing and boating beaches will open May 30 and close Sept. 7 this year. Facilities will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Two weeks of swimming instruction will be offered at the Burnt Cedar Beach swimming pool starting June 9.

Resolution Urges Study On Park Plan

A resolution urging an enlarged U. S. forest and calling for a federal study of a possible national recreation area on the Nevada side of Lake Tahoe has been sent to Gov. Paul Laxalt for his signature.

SJR15, approved unanimously yesterday in the Assembly, is a result of a speech earlier this year in Berkeley, Calif., when U.S. Sen. Alan Bible vowed to bring the federal government into Tahoe conservation programs if asked to do so by the legislature and by Laxalt.

JoAnne Gunderson Carner entered five golf tournaments in 1968 and won them all, including the U.S. Amateur.

Approval For Placer Water Agency Auditor

The Assembly Water Committee has given approval to Assembly Bill 85, Chappie, a bill designed to give the Placer County Water Agency an auditor of its own and more control over agency funds, about half of which currently are under county supervision. The bill, after approval on the Assembly floor, will go to the Senate for consideration.

William Briner, chairman of the Placer County supervisors; Supervisor Robert Radovich, and the agency's attorney, Stanley Kronick, appeared and spoke in favor of the bill at a Capitol hearing.

Opponents included Donald Funk, representing the County Auditors Association of California; Stanley Fontez, speaking for the California Tax Collectors and California County Treasurers Associations, and David McAliss, representing the Communications Workers of America.

Kronick noted the county's grand jury favors the change and that it will allow the agency greater independence in using the funds.

Fontez contended the bill passage would mean an income loss to the county, which presently realizes interest on some general funds it now handles for the agency.

Funk argued the measure would deprive the county of central control. McAliss asserted he opposed setting a precedent of removing funds from public control. Since the board of supervisors governs the agency, he said, there is a potential issue of conflict of interest in handling of the bill.

The only amendment to the measure passed out Monday, however, was the addition of Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Plumas County, as co-author with Assemblyman Eugene Chappie, R-El Dorado County.

New Financing Announced For Gas Utility

Southwest Gas Corporation announced recently that the board of directors had voted to proceed forthwith with the first step of its 1969 financing program. The company proposes to make a rights offering to its shareholders at the rate of one new share of common stock for each 10 shares held. The offering will be subject to the effectiveness of a registration statement expected to be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission in late April. The record date for distribution of rights will be set shortly before the registration statement becomes effective.

In addition to the quity financing described above, Southwest Gas Corporation proposes to sell, later on in 1969, aproximately $8,000,000 of long term debt.

North Lake Tahoe Chamber Pot-Shots:

By BETTY LAYTON

Accurate long-range legislative surveys are obviously beneficial to the legislator who is burdened sith the responsibility to speak for all his constituents and vote according to their wishes. Therefor, it is up to the little people who care to inform their Sacramento, Carson City, and Washington, D.C. lawmakers who formulate the laws which govern our lives. For this reason, the chamber is making a greater effort this year to participate in communicating with their members to obtain accurate measurements in reporting to their elected officials.

Our recent California state legislative questionnaire regarding issues of vital concern to all state residents met with considerable success. A very short time was involved in the survey (one week), so we are pleased to report that 60 persons mailed their answers back to us out of the 270 questionnaires sent.

To meet the limits of space we are announcing the results without reporting each question in adequate detail as stated on the questionnaire. The results have been mailed to Assemblyman Gene Chappie and Senator Stephen Teale and to the state chamber of commerce for their statewide tabulations on these pertinent issues:

1. Question: Would you favor legislation increasing the $720 base year earnings test, and computing benefits on earnings of four quarters rather than the single highest quarter? Yes – 44; No – 9; Undecided–4.

4. Question: Do you favor the continued use of a special fund for designated highway revenues rather than have such funds absorbed into the state's general fund? Yes – 40; No – 16; Undecided 1.

3. Question: Would you favor an increase in the amount of the exemption of the business inventory tax? Yes – 34; No – 14; Undecided – 9.

4. Question: Would you favor a state resource bond issue? Yes – 28; No 23; Undecided–6.

5. Question: Do you favor this means of solving BART's financial deficiencies? Yes – 31; No – 19; Undecided – 7.

6. Question: Do you feel that federal production controls, acreage allotments, and price support programs should be phased out in order to return our agricultural industry throughout the nation to the free market system? Yes – 45; No – 7; Undecided – 4.

7. Question: Do you favor establishing tuition at the University of California and state colleges? Yes – 44; No – 10; undecided – 1.

Question – At community colleges: Yes – 30; No – 22; undecided – 3.

8. Question: Should government employment be subject to collective bargaining? Yes – 10; No – 37; Undecided – 10.

The North Lake Tahoe Chamber is polling its membership to obtain their views on proposed issues destined to come before the U.S. 91st Congress this year.

Along with the federal and state issues, this chamber is likewise very concerned in formulating a program of work based on our own local needs such as transportation, communication, tourism, business, recreation and many other factors.

Our technology and funds do not allow us to execute all the needs or ideas expressed; however, we are asking our chamber members for their ideas and we shall endeavor to meet the outer limits of the chamber's resources – both the staff and the wonderful volunteers who formulate and carry out the program which governs the chamber.

Your Telephone Conversation Travels In The Best Company

When your telephone cross–country these days, there is a very good chance your conversation is racing along with pictures, data, handwriting and even heartbeats.

"Today's telephone network carries a great variety of information, much like a broad highway that carries different types of autos and trucks," said Jack Domergue, Tahoe City, manager for Pacific Telephone.

There was a time when the telephone network involved only facilities for talk between people. But that no longer is true.

Today, Domergue said, the network is used to transmit everything from a cheery hello to the nightly television news broadcast or the thump of an ailing heart undergoing long distance diagnosis.

"Any type of information that can be converted into electronic vibrations or pulses has a valid passport into the nationwide communications network, Domergue stated.

Within the next few years, Picturephone service will be added to the network; the "see–as–you–talk" service is scheduled for introduction during the 1970's. And the Bell Telephone System estimates that by 1975 there will be as much information transmitted between machines on the network as talk between people. After all, machines speak faster and convey more facts in shorter time periods than people possibly can.

Domergue added that the use of pushbotton telephones to query computers already is becoming commonplace.

For example Domergue said, in Sacramento the real estate industry is setting up a system utilizing a computer in Detroit, Mich., to help prospective buyers find the house they want.

After interviewing the clients to determine exactly what features they want in their new home, the real estate salesman then feeds this information into a telephone by tapping out a series of code numbers on a "Touch–Tone" pad. The information is flashed across country to the Detroit computer which has stored information on all residential property offered by the Sacramento Real Estate Board's Multiple Listing Service. Within seconds the computer supplies the Sacramento salesman with addresses of all the homes listed that meet the client's specifications.

Domergue said there are many other applications of this type of service in use in the nation. In Ohio, a service–station operation can order tires, batteries or other goods by tapping the appropriate buttons on his telephone. The computer tells him by recorded voice when to expect delivery and then automatically bills him.

In Delaware, a chain of shoe stores is connected with a local bank so that any purchaser can have his account automatically debited by the amount of his purchase at the same time as the computer is crediting the shoe store account.

"When a telephone call is made," Domergue explained, "devices at the originating end of the connection convert the voice into electrical patterns.

"At the other end of the receiver converts the electrical waves back into sound waves. It works the same with other communications devices, whether it's teletypewriters using the written work or Data–Phones talking computer language.

"The adaptability of the switched network to all forms of electrical communications, along with the ability to transport these signals virtually anywhere, at any time, make it a valuable national resource."

Domergue noted there are more than 700–million miles of circuits in the network, and the Bell System can connect not only with the 102–million plus telephones and communications devices in the United States, but with 97 per cent of the world's 200–million telephones as well.

"It would be highly impractical to have a direct connection between all subscribers," Domergue said. "There are more than five quadrillion — that's a five followed by 15 zeroes – different possible interconnections in this country."

The solution was to set up a hierarchial switched network so that local telephone offices would be connected to telephone offices that act as "brokers" for circuits – passing calls back and forth on prearranged Interconnecting routes.

"The switched network is organized something like a company with different levels of responsibility," Domergue said. "Every office reports up a step, and if one office can't take care of the transmission needs, it hands the problem to the next highest office."

At the bottom of the hierarchy is the local telephone exchange, which is connected to all the subscribers in its area. These offices have such specialized duties as providing power to operate telephones, ringing subscribers, accepting calls when they're offered and keeping records for billing.

"People often think of data transmission as something new on the network," Domergue concluded. "But the called number, which is a form of data, has always been passed from office to office as a connection is established. So ever since it was established, the telephone network has been handling data."

Badertscher Wins Werner Slalom Race

Under sunny spring skies, on fast, hard–packed snow, Bob Badertscher, whizzed to victory with a time of 30.4 seconds in the Buddy Werner Slalom Sunday at Ski Incline.

Badertscher carried the colors of the Blue Angels team, which despite his victory, was bested by the Blue Devils, 142 to 109. In the second team race the Gold Panthers defeated the Red Trojans, 147 to 104.

Taking second in individual performance was Jon Knorpp, Gold Panthers, with 31.2 seconds and in third was Red Trojan Frank Facciolla, 32.7. Results: 4–(tie) Scott Bannister, Blue Angels and Benjie Facciolla, Red Trojans, 35.3; 6–Chrissy Gurney, Gold Panthers, 37.5; 7– (tie) Craig Kuckhoff, Blue Devils, and Cole Swenson, Blue Devils, 39.0; 9– Peter Leonard, Blue Angels, 39.5 and 10 – Chris Kuckhoff, 39.6.

Incline Village has four Buddy Werner League teams, that put 32 racers on the team scoreboard Sunday.

Leslie Case Also Winner

Leslie Case of San Francisco was the winner of the Far West Ski Yachting Association's First Annual Giant Slalom at Ski Incline Saturday.

The race is half a land–sea contest that will wind up with a sailing race Saturday, March 22 at Berkeley Yacht Harbor. Here the good skiers will have to prove they're good skippers, if they want to win the grand trophy.

In the predicted time race Miss Case was followed closely by Joan Rahm and Bill Carter in that order. In the actual time race she was also victor with the fastest time of the day, followed by Ron Seabourn and Robert Roy.

Cheryl Too

Cheryl Bechdolt, 17, of Tahoe City took first place honors Sunday in the women's downhill event at Eastern Alpine Championships at Cannon Mountain in New Hampshire.

The young Tahoe miss came in to win ahead of Karen Middleton, 17, of West Brattleboro, Vt.

Charlie Washburn, one of three Negro assistant directors in the studios, received his training in "Star Trek," "Batman," "Felony Squad," and "Peyton Place," but says he likes it where he is now on NBC–TV's "Star Trek." "That's way out," says Charlie.

More Warnings From Fire Authorities

Winter over?

Want to relax?

Better think twice and get the shovel out again despite melting snows say the fire chiefs of the two North Lake Tahoe fire districts at Incline, Crystal Bay and Tahoe City.

Chief Jack Kissinger of the North Lake Tahoe Fire Protection District of Incline and Crystal Bay said melting snows which turn to ice and expected March and April storms still spell trouble for dwellings at Lake Tahoe. Ice weighs half again as much as snow.

"We've been going house to house, warning people to shovel roofs and to see that gas lines and meters, whether natural gas or propane, are uncovered," said Chief Kissinger.

"One of our most disastrous recent fires caused by a broken meter occurred in a dwelling where occupants had ignored our house to house warning.

"I just hope someone doesn't get killed before people pay attention."

Chief Kissinger noted that during a recent investigation, snow and ice removal from the meter raised it 8 inches and "there isn't that much resiliency in pipes and fittings."

Chief Al Henry of the Tahoe City Fire Protection District said the rash of destructive fires in his area have also been caused by broken gas lines and meters.

"However, be extremely careful not to cause a break when you uncover your meter or gas lines," he said.

Chief Henry also noted that Southwest Gas, supplier for this area, and the propane companies, are doing all they can to assist users, uncovering many of the meters themselves as they go around.

"We've been lucky, so far. Most fires have happened in unoccupied dwellings," said Henry.

"I hope our luck holds and that occupants will really take heed and take the responsibility for the small precaution of uncovering their meters.

"Even without personal injury or loss of life, the monetary loss is still great."

"THERE'LL BE MORE" – So said North Lake Tahoe Fire Protection District Fire Chief Jack Kissinger about the unoccupied bungalow at Veren Villa, Crystal Bay, which collapsed recently. He cautioned that the next one might be occupied and result in injuries or death if occupants don't get the snow off their roofs. Collapse blocked street with snow. – Sun Photo

SNOW LADEN PIPES AND METER – Heavy ice and snow broke the gas line and caused the explosion and fire earlier this month which destroyed the John Martin home at Timberland, south of Tahoe City. Al Henry, chief of Tahoe City Fire Protection District said several recent fires have been caused by failure to keep gas lines and meters free from snow and ice. – Gary Henry Photo

Washoe Valley Export System Study Slated

In informal closed–to–public study session will be held sometime this week between the Incline Village General Improvement District and North Tahoe Public Utility District managers and engineers, regarding the problem of an export system into Washoe Valley.

Last week, Wallace White, Incline Village's GID Manager said the district would be in serious trouble if a bill, introduced in the Nevada Senate, passes, requiring a 51 per cent approval from watershed residents before sewage effluent can be exported to the area.

Harlan Moyer, engineer for Clair Hill & Associates who designed the proposed Incline Village export system to Washoe Valley, said the bill will actually prohibit export from Tahoe to any area of Nevada.

He said the requirement of a 51 per cent approval of registered voters in an area could never be achieved.

"We'll have to look at all of our alternatives if the bill passes," White said. "At the moment, in my opinion, it will probably pass the Senate," he said.

One alternative is joining the North Tahoe Public Utility District in California.

Another alternative is spending $2 million more, White said, to extend a pipeline beyond Washoe Valley into the Nevada desert beyond. This is unlikely, White said.

All negotiations with a private landowner in Washoe Valley have been postponed until the problem is solved. The farmer was to have received Incline Village effluent for irrigation.

"In my opinion," Moyer said, "if the bill passes, the federal government will reinforce its mandate for export by 1970 and we'll have an eyeball–to–eyeball confrontation between the state and the Department of Interior. I believe there is ample legal authority in the Water Pollution Control Act to force effluent export."

Nevada County Expects 4,000 New Parcels

The Nevada County assessor's office is expecting 4,000 new parcels of land will be recorded this year, bringing the county total to an estimated 30,–000.

Assessor E. A. (Bub) Tobiassen, in a report to the supervisors, said, "In my estimation, we are experiencing the greatest workload in the history of the assessor's office."

He listed as causes the addition of 10 new parcel map books, conversion of 25,000 parcels to a computerized operation and administration of the Proposition 1–A property tax relief.

Tobiassen initially set July 1, 1969, as completion date for the reappraisal program, but the added workload is expected to move that date into the next fiscal year.

The county assessor has until July 1, 1971, to have all parcels assessed at 25 per cent of full cash value under the AB 80 tax reform law.

He reported some parcels have not been re–evaluated for 15 years and a sampling made by the State Board of Equalization showed that some assessments were only 5 per cent of cash value.

The assessed valuation of Nevada County has increased $13 million in the last two fiscal years as a result of the re–appraisal program, Tobiassen said.

Timber Shortage Plagues Industry

Western lumbermen are plagued by bad weather, a shortage of timber, and a critical railroad boxcar shortage for shipments, according to industry sources in San Francisco.

Exports of logs to Japan, although about to be brought under strict control, coupled with heavy snowfall, which prevented normal logging operations in many areas, have reduced the available supply of timber to a point where many mills are operating well below capacity.

Washoe County Sheriff Reports On 1968 Cases

Reports from the Washoe County Sheriff's office at Incline reveal the total case load in the Incline office for 1968 was double that of 1967.

A comparison of February reports for 1968 and 1969 show investigations continue to increase. In February of 1968 there were 7 accident cases investigated while 33 were processed in February, 1969.

Reports also show that the months of July and August are the worst for accident cases. There are not only more accidents, but they are more serious, resulting in more injuries and deaths. The majority of winter accidents are in the "fender–bender" category, said a sheriff's office spokesman.

BUSY LIFTS – All ski lifts at Lake Tahoe Basin resorts were operating at full capacity last weekend as ski enthusiasts flocked into the area by the thousands to take advantage of the first weekend of good weather in several months. Not only local ski resorts, such as the one at Incline Village where this picture was taken, but highway observers reported the weekend influx of tourists to be a near-record amount. There was a steady stream of automobiles and buses carrying visitors out of the basin and back to their homes Sunday. —Tribune Photo

Bad Weather Affected Jobs

SACRAMENTO – Total civilian employment in California in February, advanced from January, although the dampening effect of bad weather on some outdoor activities boosted unemployment by a larger-than-usual amount for this time of year.

This review of the labor force situation was released jointly by the departments of Industrial Relations and Employment of the Human Relations Agency.

At a February record of 7,725,000, civilian employment was up by 15,000 over the month, a time of year when normally little change takes place, Albert C. Beeson, director of industrial relations, reported.

The February total topped the year-ago figure by 244,000, or 3.3 per cent.

Between January and February, main contributions to the expansion in jobs came from public education and services, and the principal contraction was a seasonal one in trade.

Measured from February a year ago, trade, services, and government accounted for a major share of the job growth.

Manufacturing employment numbered 1,645,000 in February, a gain of 5,000 from January. The return of workers following a partial settlement of the trade dispute in petroleum refining helped to offset the effects of wet weather on such outdoor activities as lumber and stone-clay-glass, the continuation of cutbacks in ordnance and aircraft, and a trade dispute in primary metals.

Over the year, manufacturing added 6,000 workers. The largest gains occurred in machinery, printing-publishing (where a strike a year ago had lowered the level), and fabricated metals.

Non-Driving Californians Get ID Cards

SACRAMENTO– Ten thousand Californians who don't drive have obtained non-driver identification cards from the Department of Motor Vehicles since this new service became available at DMV offices after New Year's day, 1969.

"About 80 per cent of the applicants for such cards have been women," said Verne Orr, director of motor vehicles.

"This is not surprising, since fewer women than men are licensed to drive in California (41.9 per cent of all females, and 58.1 per cent of all males). The card is intended to be a helpful means of identifying the bearer, just as a driver's license is.

"What really surprised us," Orr added, "is the fact that the big initial demand for identity cards came from young people rather than the oldsters. We had rather expected the opposite to be true."

A sample of applicants for identity cards shows 60 per cent of them in the 21 to 34 age group, 24 per cent aged 35 to 59 and 16 per cent aged 60 and over.

Identification cards resemble drivers' licenses in appearance, and are sealed in plastic. They may be issued to persons 21 years of age or older who do not hold valid California drivers' Licenses.

NEWEST "DIGGINS" – A workman at Tahoe City's newest restaurant, La Cuesta digs out from in under 8 to 10 feet of snow blanketing the roof. The new eatery features Mexican food, cook-your-own steaks and food to go. It is located on Highway 89 just south of Fanny Bridge. Owners and new residents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holt said hours are from 4 p.m. The restaurant is open every day except Sunday. —Sun Photo

Prove ESP's Phony— You Can Win $10,000

ROCKLIN – Want a chance to win $10,000? If you can prove that Russ Burgess gets any help in advance when he presents his baffling lecture at Sierra College on Thursday, March 20, that amount is all yours.

Burgess is scheduled for the Forum series at the college and will demonstrate extra-sensory perception. Formerly with the Department of Justice, Burgess now lectures and serves as a Hyponanalyst and assists psychiatrists when needed.

"ESP must be placed in its proper perspective," Burgess states. "One must not confuse it with the occult, supernatural or mysticism. ESP is a form of creativity." Now authoring a book on the subject, he has two successful records on the market. Titled "Stop Smoking Today" and "Developing Your ESP Powers" they are APB records.

One week prior to his engagement at Sierra Russ Burgess will mail to the program chairman a sealed envelope containing the headline that will appear in the local paper on the day of his performance.

Burgess will appear on the SC campus at 11 a.m. and again at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center.

The public is invited to attend this free forum presentation.

Squaw Valley's Come A Long Way In 9 Years

By CARSON WHITE
President Truckee Chamber of Commerce

Just nine years ago, a little unknown valley in California staged the 1960 Winter Olympics with critics harping at any deficiencies they could find before the Games got underway.

As competitions progressed, the press news media did an about–face and Squaw Valley received world acclaim for staging one of the best Olympics ever.

It was almost a miracle that owner Alex Cushing was even able to obtain FIS approval to stage the World Games, but he convinced enough officials that he would supplement the present three lifts with additional facilities and they bought it.

Two chairlifts were added with the help of the State of California and the huge Blyth Ice arena was built.

Now, almost a decade later, Squaw Valley has mushroomed into a giant ski complex with a spiderwork network of lifts in all directions.

Although it earned a reputation from racing and challenging slopes, the versatile terrain affords good recreational skiing to all classes of skiers.

Cushing observed remarks made by skiers in lift lines and replaced his rope tows with six platters, established a beginner area called Gold Coast with 3 chairlifts above the 8,000–foot marker and overnight it was a success drawing thousands more to Squaw. Now the beginners could brag that they skied on the big hill.

Alex also added a four–passenger gondola to take some of the tourists and skiers to the new Gold Coast area.

It's capacity was 600 skiers per hour.

The Gondola proved to be a masterpiece. Skiers would line up a block long waiting patiently for the closed car ride rather than take a chair lift that ended in the same area with no lift line to contend with.

Again, the crowds increased so he added the popular Shirley Lake lift.

This area north of Gold Coast is shielded from the prevailent northwest winds and supports powder snow many days after a storm.

In spite of increased revenues, Cushing plowed more profits back into the operation.

The 2100–foot Riviera chair lift was added to assist nomad skiers to roam the many slopes of the upper area without climbing.

Cornice number two and headwall lifts were added to satisfy more expert skiers and Cushing made a new assessment. He decided to add a new tram for use summer and winter.

Nothing would suffice but the biggest facility and of course, it had to be the worlds largest. The new cable car will carry 120 passengers up 3000–vertical feet in six minutes and early morning skiers appreciate this.

A whole new beginner area was approached by the cable and so Alex added three more chairlifts in the area that is a Ski School Director's dream.

Cabins were added on the Squaw Peak lift to shelter riders from the wind.

Squaw Valley now boasts an uphil lift capacity of 23,720 skiers an hour with a total vertical lift of 18,357 feet.

Total length of all lifts is 14 miles. There are 17 double chair lifts, six platters, one cabin chair lift, a gondola and the huge tramway.

Although crowds increase, lift lines are less crowded. As many as 14,000 persons have skied Squaw Valley in one day with very little waiting period.

Eating facilities and lodging has improved, enlarged and other service facilities added.

Mid–week skiing in Squaw is a dream. One can ski all day and never ski the same slope twice.

Spring skiing finds many easterners now visiting the Olympic site enjoying the soft corn snow.

Home Loans For Vets Up

SAN FRANCISCO – A quarter of a million G. I. home loans in 1969 have been forecast by the Veterans Administration.

This is approximately 50,000 more than the VA estimated before the recent increase in the maximum FHA–VA home loan interest rate to 7 1/2 per cent.

William J. Driver, administrator of veterans affairs, said the anticipated 250,000 loans will go far to meet the G. I. Bill home loan benefit requests of recently returned Vietnam era veterans.

"Currently," he said, "approximately 25,000 veterans a month are applying for G. I. home loans.

The overwhelming majority are younger veterans who generally are not in a position to meet the higher down–payment requirements of most conventional loans.

"These veterans need and deserve the G. I. home loan program," Driver said.

New Traffic Records System Under Study

SACRAMENTO – Arthur Young & Company, a management consultant firm, has been selected by the California Highway Patrol to develop a statewide integrated traffic records system for California. Cost of the three–phase study was announced as $454,392 by CHP Commissioner Harold W. Sullivan.

Sullivan indicated the statewide system will be designed to encourage standardization of traffic records at various government levels and to improve efficiency.

He said a three–phase study is planned.

The first will analyze existing traffic record systems of the state, counties and cities.

The second, after the first phase has been reviewed by an advisory committee, will be preparation of a proposal for a statewide integrated system.

The third phase will include development of instructions and manuals for installing the records system.

The study is due for completion by June 30, 1970. Sullivan indicated about 60 per cent of the $454,392 study will be provided by a federal grant.

CHP officials reported 23 consultant firms responded to the patrol's request for project proposals. Three were picked to make oral presentations to a four–man advisory panel.

Sugar Pine Point Plan

California Department of Beaches and Parks have voiced plans to protect the more fragile and natural areas of Lake Tahoe and use the Ehrman Mansion as an interpretive center of early–day life.

The plans will complete the development of Sugar Pine Point State Park on the west shore of Lake Tahoe.

Sugar Pine Point Park contains 1,975 acres, about 720 acres of which are on a 10–per cent slope or less. The lake frontage is 7,700 feet. Development of camping and picnicking facilities inland from Highway 89 will help in handling summer crowds.

In the last five years, D. L. Bliss and Emerald Bay State Parks have turned away an average of 19,177 people each season, according to the park department.

Nevada County's Phillips Gets Division Of Highways Promotion

MARYSVILLE – Roy T. Phillips, Jr. of Nevada County, a professional engineer with the California Division of Highways, has accepted a promotion to Senior Highway Engineer and has transferred to Sacramento headquarters.

He is now statewide permits engineer.

In this capacity Phillips established division policy controlling extra heavy or oversized loads on state highways.

He is also directly responsible for supervision of requests by military units and the space agency for hauling when state roads are involved.

In addition he is civil defense coodinator of the Highway Division.

Phillips graduated from New Mexico State University in 1948 with a degree in civil engineering.

He began work in Highway District 3, Marysville that year working as a project engineer in highway design and as resident engineer on two Interstate 80 construction projects near Colfax and Monte Vista.

For the past six years he has been assistant city–county projects engineer for the District.

Phillips is an ex–Navy pilot. He flew patrol bombers during World War II.

He is on the Ready Springs school board in Nevada County and a member of the Nevada County airport commission.

Ownership Clarification On Land Gets Under Way

Negotiations with a title company on an agreement to determine who owns 226 parcels of land in Nevada County's "unknown owners" classification have been given the go–ahead by the board of supervisors.

County Assessor E. A. Tobiassen is representing the county in negotiations with a local firm who has bid to do the work for $1,000. When the owners are located, an additional $2,500 per year will be added to the county tax revenue.

Tobiassen explained the "unknown" category was set up in 1963–64 because the contract with the county and an engineering firm did not include enough money to allow investigation of these parcels to establish ownership.

He said the 226 parcels have an assessed value totaling $37,440 and an annual delinquency of $2,500. The state is slated to take deeds to the properties next July since this is the fifth year of delinquency, Tobiassen said.

FIRST SKI LESSON – Stirling Bunnell, right, helps his sister, Claudia, tighten her boots as Jurgen Wetzstein, head of the Luggi Foeger Ski School at Ski Incline, gives pointers. The two received free lessons as the result of their family winning an all–expenses paid weekend at Incline Village after their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Bunnell, Sacramento, attended the Sacramento Sports Fair at Cal–Expo last month.

TURNING THEM ON! – Belting out their new, fresh sound with verve and enthusiasm, Tony Austin & Co., is "turning them on" at Incline Chataux, country club restaurant. When they leave the podium and play as they march through the dining room, they bring crowds of foot–stompers back to the dance floor. From left, Bob Jackson, who sings like Nat King Cole; Tony Austin, who come on like a dozen pop singers and Joe (Nemo) Nemeth, who cracks everyone up with the Jimmy Cagney bit.

Assembly Bill Proposes 12-Month Car Licensing

CARSON CITY – Were you one of those who waited until Jan. 31 to get your 1969 license plates?, asks James C. Bailey, Nevada director of Motor Vehicle Department.

If so, you undoubtedly stood in line for hours patiently waiting for the person in front of you to get processed, Bailey notes.

And, if you resided in Clark or Washoe counties, the chances were good that you didn't get your license by the Jan. 31 deadline – that you had to return to registration division offices at a later day to pick up your plates. About 3,000 vehicle owners in Nevada's two most populous counties were in that category, the department of motor vehicles estimates.

Sweating out a license plate line may be nearing an end, Nevada licensees will be glad to know.

An Assembly bill (AB 146), introduced in January by 10 assemblymen, changes the time for registration of passenger cars from a calendar year basis to a 12–month registration period.

And, the bill has the wholehearted support of Bailey, a former Nevada legislator.

"We now have approximately 350,000 registered trucks and automobiles in Nevada," he said. "By law, these vehicles all have to be registered each year within a period of approximagely two months. The task, for a variety of reasons, is getting more complicated each year. It's time to bring about a change."

Bailey said his department is fully automated for data processing and the electronic equipment now available would be put to much better use if Nevada adopted the new plan of vehicle registration.

The way the proposed plan would work would be in this fashion; those who buy a new or used vehicle would register it for a 12–month period and receive an automatic renewal slip every 12 months thereafter; those who do not buy a new or used vehicle during a given year would have the opportunity to renewing license plates during the same period as now prevails – roughly between early November and Jan. 31.

"This new plan would be of great convenience to Nevada motorists," Bailey said.

The assembly bill is before the committee on transportation. It will not affect annual licensing of buses or commercial vehicles.

HERE WE GO! – Mr. and Mrs. Randy Bunnell of Sacramento, shown above with Jon Adams, Incline Village Inc., sales director, center, took a ride on a skimobile. The Bunnell's won a free trip to Incline for themselves and their family. The couple also won complete ski outfits as the result of their visit and registration at the Incline Village display booth at the Sacramento Sports Fair at Cal–Expo last month.

Village Observer

Special to the Sun

We have noticed that the Chataux, usually "quiet as children on Christmas Eve," is now hopping like all get out. On a recent Saturday 180 enthusiastic partygoers crammed the bar and dining room.

Could this be Tony Austin and Co.

Seen whirling on the dance floor were Don and Gerry Marek, he is the vice–president, western division, U. S. Land.

Also swinging across the dance floor were Al Littman and wife, he is executive vice–president, administrative division of all U. S. Land.

Other dancers included Jack and Joanna Rowe. He is assistant project manager at Incline Village under Vaughn Burlingham.

March 22 is a red letter day at the Chataux as James O. Carey, executive manager, is throwing a "shindig" for Karl Weber, Austrian consul general, San Francisco, and new owner of the River Ranch.

This has to be a mountain party to top the best in Switzerland and Austria. In addition to the best of Swiss and Austrian wines, Jim Carey is importing flowers from Podesta and Baldocchi. Sorry we can't describe the menu but it is too European and complicated to even begin writing about.

The gastronomic night begins with "Apertifs at seven."

Among those coming up from the Bay Area are David White, president, Commercial National Bank, San Francisco, and Dr. Frank Ruys of Woodside who is head of the Penninsula Symphony Association and a found of the famous Viennese Ball. Karl Weber annually leads this ball.

Sharing honors at the party will be Jean Studer, consul general of Switzerland. The occasion will be marked with suitable International flags and fanfare.

Talking of parties we understand that Nevada Lodge manager, Carlton Konarske and Vera gave a gastronmic delight type party recently.

Consuming "Paella" with relish at this gathering were the Harold Tillers, Art Woods, Al Hyamans, Clarence Herdas, and Lee Cunningham and Tom Kavanaugh, Valley Bank of Nevada executive who is about to be transferred to Las Vegas.

Incline Village was host last weekend to a Sacramento couple who were lucky enough to win a weekend at Incline Village complete with wining, dancing, dining, skiing, snowmobiling and two ski outfits. The couple who were awarded all this at the Sacramento State Fair are Mr. and Mrs. Randy Bunnell. They arrived with their children Claudia, 21, Stirling, 18, and Christopher, 2.

Bible Supports National Medal

WASHINGTON – Nevada Sen. Alan Bible has joined in sponsoring legislation to create a national Supreme Sacrifice Medal for presentation to widows or next of kin of American fighting men who give their lives in combat.

"An expression of gratitude by the American people to the families of these brave men is both desirable and appropriate," Bible declared. "I can think of no more suitable gesture than the award of a national medal."

Nevada's senior senator said the medal would be presented to the widow of the serviceman, if living. If there is no widow, those eligible – in the order named – would be the serviceman's children, his parents or his brothers or sisters.

Bible said the medal would be presented retroactively to survivors of fighting men who died in combat in previous wars.

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Camelback Mountain is one of the most beautiful and famous peaks in the state of Arizona.

It gets its name from the hump-like appearance of a sleeping camel, and at the base of this old camel is Jokake Inn.

The inn is a charming and picturesque winter resort with an Old World feeling.

Built to blend thoroughly into the scenery, climate, manners and customs of the area, its architecture is predominantly Pueblo, with a mixture of Mission and Spanish.

Square dancing is one of the truly Western activities the resort offers. Girls in gaily colored shirts and skirts twirl in a sprightly manner with their partners. The men match the ladies in color with their Western shirts and pants. Heavy silver belt buckles give a particularly handsome finish to the men's attire.

Other guests are in the mood for the square dancing event and wear full skirt knit dresses. Sport coats and slacks, with perhaps a Western tie at the neck, give the men the "Wild West" feeling. As the lively tunes are played on the violin, partners change and guests become a part of the swirling "grab your partner—swing her to and fro." The square dancing is not as easy as it looks and gales of laughter break forth as invited partners head in the wrong direction or lose their partners in the fast changing of steps. The Western dancing competes in energy with the popular youth dance the Funkie Broadway—the only difference being square dancers get to hold hands, so the dance isn't so square after all.

Put Touch Of Spring In A Tantalizing Salad

Cottage cheese blends so well with so many, many other foods that an imaginative cook need never duplicate a dish containing this dairy food. This makes it a simple matter to provide the best nourishment and variety to a family whose ages differ widely.

Because one-half cup of cottage cheese has as much protein as two cups of fresh milk, this dairy food is ideal for a family which includes a weight-watching father, a calorie counting daughter, a teen-age athlete and a very young child. They all need lots of good body-building protein, calcium, and other minerals and vitamins.

The great variety of cottage cheese available makes daily menu-planning a simple matter.

Choose from small or large curd, creamed or diet-packed, mixed with fruit or chives, or blend your own with herbs, onions or fresh canned fruits.

Dairy Council of California suggests this refreshing blend of imaginative ingredients that to into "Spring-Green Salad." "Spring-Green Salad" give a hint of the many ways a simple cottage – cheese gelatin salad can be varied.

Crunchy celery, a touch of – yes, onion, and even a dash of vinegar make this a special spring green salad.

SPRING-GREEN SALAD
2 pkgs. (3 oz. each) lime gelatin
2 1/2 cups boiling water
1 can (1 lb) fruit cocktail
2 tablespoons vinegar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups cottage cheese
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon grated onion
1/4 cup chopped celery
Lettuce

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Drain fruit cocktail. Set fruit aside. Add fruit syrup to gelatin with vinegar and salt. Pour off 1 cup gelatin mixture and chill until mixture mounds on a spoon. Stir in cottage cheese, mayonnaise and grated onion. Pour into bottom of six cup mold. Chill. Chill remaining gelatin mixture until mixture mounds on spoon. Stir in drained fruit cocktail and celery. Pour over cheese layer in mold. Chill until set. Unmold on lettuce. Serves eight.

Of course, there's virtually no end to the things you can do with cottage cheese in salads. It is as compatible with any combination of fruits as it is with vegetables.

Cottage cheese will not only taste good, in itself, but the protein in the cheese will act as an appetitite appeaser to stretch your lunch while slimming your figure.

For an especially eye – appealing salad, Dairy Council offers this suggestion: select a red, ripe tomato and slice it horizontally into three uniformly thick slices. Spread a thick layer of chive flavored cottage cheese between each slice of tomato, like a three decker sandwich.

High Altitude Gardening

By Ronald H. Gustafson
Washoe County Extension Horticulturist

Even during the winter months there are garden chores that need to be done. This is the time to be doing our pruning of deciduous shade trees and grapes.

In Northern Nevada the American grape (Vitus labrusca) is the common variety because of its hardiness. In the warmer portions of the State, both the American and European varieties (Vitus vanifers) are grown.

The long cane method of pruning is used in the single-trunk, four cane Kniffin system. In this system, the plant is trained to two horizontal wires. The losest wire is 30 inches above the ground and the upper wire, 24-30 inches above the lower wire. If the grape is extremely vigorous, a third wire may be used.

In pruning for the Kniffin system, you will notice the old wood is covered with a rough dark-brown bark which is no longer productive. The new canes that grew last summer, have smooth bark that is light, yellowish-brown in color. The fruit that will be produced this year will come from these young canes that were produced last summer.

Save four to six of these young canes, two for each wire depending upon the vigor of the plant. These should be strong canes that are 1/4 inch in diameter between the fifth and sixth bud and originate close to the main trunk. Cut the ends off these canes to leave ten to fifteen buds on each cane. Select four additional canes and cut back, so that two buds remain. These will be renewal spurs and will produce the canes that will bear fruit in 1970. All other canes should now be removed completely back to the main portion of the plant.

When planting grapes over arbors or fences, the canes should be well spaced over the area and yields can be as good as the more formal pruning. Oftentimes the vines are pruned to short spurs, two to three buds long, to provide a quicker and more uniform covering of the arbor.

Along the same line of thought, if you are going to prune those summer flowring shrubs this spring, you should be thinking about it fairly soon.

You have to do your trimming while the plants are still dormant and new growth can start fairly early in the Reno area. Now is the time to prune Rose of Sharon, Barberry Privet, Honeysuckle, Butterfly Bush, and Summer Flowering Spirea. But keep away from those spring flowering shrubs, such as Forsythia, Spires, Quince, Magnolia, Almond, Cherry, Plum, and Lilac. Prune these shrubs shortly after flowering or you will lose this years blossom.

When you make pruning cuts, don't simply trim back the top, thin out the plant by cutting older branches back to the ground. Head back some of the faster growing branches but don't cut all branches at the same height.

Prune annually to reduce the necessity of heavy cutback. Prune newly planted shrubs back at planting time and each year this will encourage branching close to the ground and develop a full compact shrub. When overgrown shrubs such as Forsythia, Mock Orange, Lilac need rejuvenation, cut them back to the ground, but don't make this an annual practice.

Recent storms deposited heavy accumulations of snow on evergreen trees and shrubs. Branches of these trees are very brittle and break easily if bent sharply this time of year. As snow settles it can cause severe breakage, especially on cedar, pine, spruce, and juniper. You can relieve the situation easily if the snow has simply accumulated on the branches with no drifting or burying involved. "Support the individual branch with one hand and gently remove the snow with the other."

If the tree or shrub is buried in the snow the solution is more difficult. Damage is most likely to occur as the snow mass around the plant begins to settle. Settling will begin when the first thawing weather arrives and will proceed as thawing temperatures occur throughout the late winter and early spring. Damage caused by this type of action can almost completely strip the side branches from upright growing evergreens.

I recommend that the crust be broken and snow be removed from around the plant to isolate it from surrounding settling snow before the thawing begins. Careful removal of the snow from the branches during this operation would also be helpful to save the evergreen.

Expanded Special Education Programs Sought By Solon

SACRAMENTO – A call for expansion and program changes in special education on the state level, and increased utilization of available programs on the local level has been made by California Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D–West Point, in an article in the March issue of the journal of the California School Boards Association.

Teale, who is a vice chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and who chaired the special Senate Committee on Educational Finance last year, said in the article in "California School Boards" that California's public school program of special education for exceptional children is outstanding, but it could be improved.

He indicated that evaluation of administration, screening and instructional programs is needed, and recommendations for augmented financing will confront the Legislature this year.

Under existing programs, special educational services are provided for exceptional children in the fields of physically handicapped, educable mentally retarded, the severely mentally retarded, the educationally handicapped and the mentally gifted.

But Teale indicated that unfortunately all of the children who need special services are not getting them and in at least two instances, this is due to the failure of local school administrations to take advantage of state funds made available to them.

Teale said the greatest need is among the educationally handicapped and while last year 20,000 of these students were enrolled, estimates place the need at 200,000. He said state support is available and it is up to local school administrations to provide the programs.

Although the program for the severely mentally retarded child is mandatory for children aged 8–18, several districts have made no provision for them. Again he noted that money is available, but it is up to the local districts to act.

Teale called for expansion of the program for mentally gifted. He noted that while 150,000 children are eligible, state support allocations last year provided for only 90,000 and reductions in 1969–70 will further cut the program.

He also called inadequate the budgetary provisions for development centers for children whose handicaps are so severe they cannot benefit from special public schooling. He said at present 32 centers cared for 1,020 of these children, but at least 5,000 children are in need of these classes.

Teale cited six areas of fiscal and administrative change to make the exceptional child program truly effective; (1) categorization of state funds to guarantee proper use; (2) application of unspent annual state allocation to reduce the following year's allowance; (3) maintenance of state allowances consistent with average statewide costs; (4) establishment of funding procedures that will insure proper maximum class size; (5) equalization of local support from the various districts and (6) establiishment of a full foundation program of uniform contributions.

Teale also urged more careful screening of children for the program pointing out that "When one child is erroneously placed in a special class, two children are denied the correct educational opportunity."

The senator said all of the improvements necessary for a more effective exceptional-child program cannot be made at one time, but stressed that local action must occur continuously and urged school districts to undertake immediate evaluation and improvement.

"Improvements are needed and we should act to attain them as early as possible. The needy children grow older every day," he said.

Income Tax Pointers Are Outlined

Before you tuck your 1968 tax return in an envelope and send it to the Internal Revenue Service, look closely at the following pointers. They could save you money.

Early returns already filed indicate that many taxpayers are neglecting to deduct premiums paid on medical insurance.

Don't forget that you can claim one–half of these premiums. The limit is $150 of deduction per tax return, or $300 for a married couple filing separate returns. The other one–half, of the premium can be included as part of your itemized medical expenses.

And, if you're itemizing medical expenses, be certain to include the cost of transportation to and from the hospital or doctor's office. You're allowed five cents a mile if you drove your own car, plus parking and toll fees. Cab and bus fares are also applicable.

In addition, don't fail to include expenses for dental work, purchasing or repairing hearing aids, eyeglasses, etc.

Remember, there is no overall dollar limit on medical deductions.

And here are more tips. If you paid over $343.20 in Social Security taxes, you have a refund coming. People who change jobs during the year often pay more than the maximum in Social Security tax.

Many expenses incurred in the process of earning a living may be deductible. For example: dues to professional organizations, safety deposit box rental fees (if the box was used to store such things as securities), and subscriptions to investment–advisory services.

If you've already filed your tax return for 1968, keep this in mind: You can still file an amended return and include any deductions you may have previously overlooked.

Californians About Ready For Spring

Californians will surely hail the official arrival of spring on March 21 after one of the wettest and most disagreeable winters in the memory of old inhabitants.

Starting shortly after New Year's Day, it rained and snowed incessently until the end of February causing floods, mudslides, avalanches and drainage problems all over the state. Southern California was hit even harder than the northern part of the state.

An unusually heavy snowfall in the Sierra repeated closed highways and made things tough for some ski resort operators and their patrons as well as the highway clearing crews.

Farmers were kept from preparing their fields for planting by the unending rains until the early March let-up.

Water resource and flood control people now have their eyes trained on that monumental snow pack in the mountains. They know that an unusually warm spell could start that snow melting rapidly with potentially dire results for the valley lowlands.

Big reservoirs which aided in controlling the January and February downpours are being lowered to make room for run-off still to come.

A plus value in the situation is knowledge that all our reservoirs will be full by summer, assuring a continuing water supply.

No wonder that the Druids thought March 21 was such an important day in their lives that they built Stonehenge on the moors of Britain to zero in on its annual arrival.

Californians can have a sympathetic feeling for them this year.

Preparedness

NEW YORK—The Insurance Information Institute points out that the insurance industry is always ready to swing into action when catastrophe strikes. Adjusters often are transferred hundreds of miles in a matter of hours to help handle the deluge of claims that often follows hurricanes, tornadoes and the like.

California Highways Were Among Safest During 1968

SACRAMENTO – One of the nation's lowest highway fatality rates per 100 million miles driven was chalked up by California during 1968, according to provisional figures released today by Gordon C. Luce, state secretary for Business and Transportation.

Luce stated that California Highway Patrol statistics, which are subject to revision with later data, indicate that the State's fatality rate would be reduced by more than 4 per cent "to an all-time low of about 4.4 deaths per 100 million miles of vehicle travel on California's 163,000 miles of State highways, city streets, and county roads."

He estimated that total travel in the State amounted to more than 110 billion miles last year.

"Total deaths on California's streets and highways last year amounted to 4,853 – 30 less than the 4,883 for 1967," Luce said. "This 1 per cent decrease is contrary to national experience which showed a 5 per cent increase."

The Business and Transportation Secretary cited a number of factors which contributed to California's record-low fatality rate: increased enforcement by the California Highway Patrol and local law enforcement agencies; the construction of new and safer highways' stricter driver licensing procedures and activities of the California Safety Foundation and private sector organizations.

"The opening of about 200 new miles of freeways and the improvement of existing highways," Luce said, "is the outstanding example of the life-saving qualities of good roads."

He pointed out that the State Department of Public Works has expended more than $22 million to provide greater safety on conventional State highways since the start of the minor spot improvement program, resulting in the correction of 1,100 high accident locations.

He indicated that a similar amount would be spent next year on this spot improvement program.

Luce's statistics showed that Californians drove almost 54 billion vehicle miles last year on State highways alone – an increase of about 6 per cent over 1969.

"Of particular significance," he said, "is the fact that of that total, more than half, or 33.5 billion vehicle miles were driven on the State's freeway system, although it constitutes less than 10 per cent of the entire State highway system.

"Yet, the fatality rate on freeways was reduced to 2.57, almost 4 per cent below that of the previous year."

The Business and Transportation Secretary also pointed out that State highways represent less than 10 per cent of the total road mileage in California, but carry 55 per cent of the travel.

"Freeways – only 2 per cent of the total mileage of California streets and highways – carry one-third of all travel in the State. And at accident rates, one-third of that experienced on conventional streets."

"We think," Luce said, "that because freeways carried this vast amount of traffic which otherwise would have been on streets and roads, 2,500 lives were saved last year alone!"

Placer Issues Two Permits

AUBURN – Placer County Department of Public Works issued two building permits for dwellings worth $48,000 in the Tahoe Basin area of District No. 5 in February.

Countywide, 15 permits were issued for dwellings worth $318,964. A total of 40 building permits were issued for construction worth $396,276.

In Febuary, 1968, 18 permits were issued for dwellings worth $364,268.

SCHOOL AWARDS – Mrs. Carol Kirtley has been promoted to school awards officer in Bank of America's San Francisco head office. She is in charge of the bank's Achievement Awards and Junior College Business Awards for which local high school pupils and area junior college students annually compete. This spring the bank is awarding $158,400 to outstanding students throughout California.

Homeowners' Tax Refund Rules Set

AUBURN – Frank R. Chilton, Jr., Placer County assessor, reminds property owners who owned and occupied a home in Placer County on March 1, 1968 and or March 1, 1969 may be eligible for a $70 refund on their 1968-69 taxes and or a $750 assessed valuation exemption on their 1969-70 taxes.

Claims for the $70 refund, which are green in color, and claims for the $750 exemption, which are yellow in color, have been mailed.

If for some reason or another, you have not received one or both claims, you should contact the assessor's office immediately by mail or phone 885-7711, ext. 291.

Generally, you are eligible for the $70 refund if you owned and occupied a home on March 1, 1968 and for the $750 exemption on the home that you owned and occupied March 1, 1969.

You are not eligible if you received any public assistance for payment or partial payment of taxes on your home.

The public is also reminded that no one is allowed more than one $70 refund or $750 exemption.

If you need assistance in filling out the claim for the $70 refund, the $750 exemption, or your veteran exemption, you can get assistance from the field representatives. At the Auburn office or at the Assessor's branch office in Tahoe City if you live in the Tahoe area.

Businessmen are also reminded they are required to file a property statement with the assessor's office declaring the value of their property by May 9.

Deadline for filing exemptions is April 15. There are no provisions for excusing late filing.

New Fire Bill Backed By Bible

WASHINGTON – Senator Alan Bible has joined in sponsoring legislation to make the Federal Government a partner in providing effective fire protection for rural communities of 5,500 or fewer citizens.

Bible said the proposed Cooperative Rural Fire Protection Act would offer federal technical assistance, training and equipment to areas with little or no protection at present.

"Nevada has been described by the U.S. Forest Service as one of the states having the greatest need for rural fire protection," Bible noted. "This legislation would go a long way toward correcting the problem."

The senator emphasized that fire-control procedures under the proposal would extend to ranches, cropland, pastureland and non-mountainous ranges as well as to communities.

"We are as interested in controlling destructive wildfires as we are in dealing effectively with structural blazes in towns," he added.

Bible said the Federal Government would share the program's cost with individual states. However, the local community would be chiefly responsible for implementing the fire-control procedures.

Bible noted nearly 1,000 rural residents lose their lives to fire each year in America, and said total farm fire losses in the United States in 1967 amounted to more than $208 million.

"Property and scenic values are high in the rural areas of the nation," he added.
